New U.S. Demand For Extradition.

MILLIONAIRE INDUSTRIALIST FACES GAOL.

An official of the United States Attorney General's office arrived here from Washington in connection with the request.—Reuter.

IN EXILE SINCE OCTOBER.

Washington, Yesterday. The United States Government have decided to demand the extradition of Samuel Insull, the London-born ex-millionaire, who has been in exile in Greece since last October when the Greek courts refused to grant his extradition to America to meet charges of embezzlement and larceny.

Officials of the State Department are reticent as to the grounds for a fresh application.—Reuter.

NEW REGIME IN CUBA

Complete Clearance Of Old Officials.

MACHADO'S ACTS NOW ILLEGAL.

Havana, Yesterday. A new Cuban regime has begun.

The Provisional President, Dr. Carlos Cespedes Y. Ortiz, issued a decree on Friday night restoring the 1901 Constitution, dissolving the National Congress, Deposing all Governors of Provinces, denouncing ex-President Machado as an usurper and declaring all his acts of Government illegal, though the Provisional Government will recognise all international obligations incurred under ex-President Machado's administration.

New Judges and Magistrates have been appointed and ex-President Machado formally deposed.

The new elections have been fixed for February 24, 1934.—Reuter.

CODES RULE INDUSTRY

14 OPERATING IN AMERICA'S RECOVERY PLAN

30 More Codes By Sep'tember 1.

ROOSEVELT ORDERS 1934 BUDGET ECONOMY.

Washington, Yesterday. Fourteen Codes are now operating in American industries as the result of the drive made by the National Industry Recovery Administration, headed by General Hugh Johnson. The latest Code, applying to rayon silk weavers, was promulgated to-day.

Thirty other Codes are set down for hearing before September 1, including one for the coal industry which, on Wednesday last, attempted to harmonise 29 separate proposals.

Failing a settlement, however, President Roosevelt has given the industry until Tuesday next to agree upon a Code or have one imposed upon them.

The motor-car manufacturers have accepted the revised Code which General Johnson hopes the Labour Unions will accept, but the druggists have rejected their Code as improper and illegal. A Code is being drafted to fix prices at all retail establishments.

President Roosevelt had ordered that the Budget for the next financial year shall be restricted to the economy limit this year. Estimates are to be submitted as early as possible, so that the Congressional Committees can get into full swing before the next session of Congress opens in January.—Reuter.

U.S. STEEL FIRM OPTIMISTIC

Improved Results Last Quarter.

BETHLEHEM REPORT

New York, Yesterday. Progressive improvement has been shown in the business of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. since the beginning of the second quarter. May recorded an improvement over April and there was a better gain in June. July, thus far, has shown up best.

Second quarter results will be materially improved over the first three months, the Corporation will, however, again fail to cover depreciation and interest charges in the second quarter.

During the early part of the current recovery in the steel industry, Bethlehem lagged behind other companies, due primarily to the fact that the active demand appeared first in the Middle West and was led by consumptive requirements of the automotive industry.

LIMITING RUBBER PRODUCTION.

Batavia Agreement In Sight.

Batavia, Yesterday.

It is learned from rubber sources that the Dutch East Indies interests have reached an agreement for rubber restriction and that the progress of the agreement now hinges on the attitude of Indo-China.—Reuter.

11,000,000 UNEMPLOYED IN AMERICA

But 1,500,000 Find Work; Production Increases

Washington, Yesterday. More than 1,500,000 unemployed were re-absorbed in the United States during the quarter ending June 30, according to the Federal Reserve review. Eleven million workers are, however, still idle. Production has increased by 6 per cent.—Reuter.

NO INFLATION OF CURRENCY IN AMERICA

New Announcement Of Policy.

WOODIN NOT RESIGNING FROM TREASURY

Conflicting Reports.

Washington, Yesterday. The matters discussed at the meeting yesterday between President Roosevelt and the United States Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. William H. Woodin, are the subject of conflicting reports. According to Reuter, Mr. Woodin has denied the "United Press" report that his resignation and the inflation of currency were discussed. There is a general agreement, however, that the gold-hoarding problem and the ways and means of making hoarders disgorge, figured prominently in the talk.

The United States Administration will not inflate currency, according to an announcement made by the United States Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. William H. Woodin, after a conference with President Roosevelt, yesterday.

Mr. Woodin also declared that he was not resigning from his administrative post.

INFLATION NOT DISCUSSED?

Reuter's Version Of Meeting.

Hyde Park, New York, Yesterday.

After a long conference with President Roosevelt, the United States Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. William H. Woodin declared that neither inflation nor his resignation were discussed.

He said that he assured the President that the Treasury was in a healthy condition and well able to handle the expenditure of $3,300,000,000 on Public Works. President Roosevelt and Mr. Woodin also discussed the executive order defining gold for purposes of enforcing the anti-hoarding decree which President Roosevelt is expected to sign shortly.—Reuter.

YELLOW RIVER STILL RISING.

Growing Fears In Tsinan.

Tsinan, Yesterday.

Tsinan's half-million inhabitants are growing every moment more apprehensive, as a rise of only two inches in the level of the Yellow River will mean an incalculable disaster.

Feverish efforts are being made to bolster up the defences against floods.—Reuter.

CURRENCY CRISIS

STERLING AND DOLLAR DECLINE

U.S. And Britain On Gold Standard?

MONTAGU NORMAN TO VISIT NEW YORK.

New York, Yesterday.

The decline of sterling and the dollar is the main topic in the newspapers here, to-day together with the arrival yesterday of M. Leon Fraser, President of the Bank of International Settlements, and the fact that Mr. Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, will visit New York next week.

The "Journal of Commerce" suggests that Mr. Norman's visit is concerned with a stabilisation pact by simultaneous devaluation of the dollar and sterling, and a return to the gold standard.

The United States Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. William H. Woodin, declares that currency inflation in the United States is not at present being considered.—Reuter.

NEW U.S. BANKING REGULATIONS.

Dealing With Foreign Banks.

Washington, Yesterday. Regulations aiming at the controlling of the relationship of the Federal Reserve banks to foreign banks were to-day issued by the Federal Reserve Board.

The regulations require the Federal Reserve banks to submit forthwith full information concerning all existing relationships and transactions with foreign banks and forbidding Federal Reserve bank representatives to negotiate with foreign banks except in pursuance of agreement previously approved by the Board.—Reuter.

EXONERATES BROTHER

"I KILLED HER WITH AN ICE - BREAKER"

Calm Confession To Portuguese Consul. WAS ANGERED WITH HIS COMMON-LAW WIFE.

Shanghai, Yesterday.

A sensation was caused here, this morning, when Patricio Jose Remedios, one of the two Portuguese brothers charged with the trunk murder, calmly confessed to one of the most horrible killings in the history of Shanghai crime.

By his confession, Patricio has completely exonerated his brother, Jose Eulalio dos Remedios, from complicity in the murder of Choy Ling, the former's common-law wife, whose body was found in a trunk on board the s.s. Shanghai Maru, on her arrival at Kobe early this month.

The confession was made to the Portuguese Consul-General at the Portuguese Consular Court, at the preliminary hearing of the case.

"I plead guilty. I got angry and killed her in my room with an ice-breaker," the accused man declared.

He then went on to say that the crime took place on the night of August 4. The next morning he placed the dead body in a black trunk, which he later took on board the N.Y.K. liner "Shanghai Maru." His brother, he stated, knew nothing of the crime until late on August 5. No one had helped him to place the body in the trunk or to take the trunk on the liner.

The confession was made in low, calm tones, and Patricio signed a written copy of his statement firmly and unwaveringly.

It is understood that, following committal, the trial will be held in Macao.

The two brothers, both of whom were educated at St. Francis Xavier's College, Shanghai, where they have fine records, were formally charged with the homicide of a Chinese female in the Hongkew district, on August 15.

The body was then thought to that of Mary Chun, a graduate of the Canton Middle School. When found, the hands were bound. Police suspicion first fell on a Russian, but later the authorities traced the crime to the Remedios brothers with whom Mary Chun was said to have been living.—Reuter.

He was a native of Castile, Spain, and came to China in 1920.

Chapter IV.— IN OLD DELHI.

(By GERALD BURRARD)

THE harbour of Bombay, with the single exception of that of Sydney, is probably the most beautiful in the world, and Phyllis watched with delighted excitement the scene unfold itself in the early-morning sunlight. She and Geoffrey stood in the bows of the steamer. The palm-studded islands and shores, the vessels riding at anchor, the rugged forts, the towering mass of the Taj Mahal hotel, and the long, low roof of the Yacht Club. It was all very beautiful, but although the moment for which he had so often longed was now at hand, and he was once more to land on Indian soil, Geoffrey felt the sorrow of his approaching parting with Phyllis more keenly than the joy of his arrival.

She was to start up-country that very evening for Delhi, where her father would meet her, and Geoffrey determined to make every possible arrangement for the comfort of her journey. He had told her nothing about the supposed lascar, merely letting her believe that he had carelessly slipped overboard when knocking out his pipe. In fact, none but the captain knew the truth, for it was found that no member of the ship's crew was missing, and so it was evident that his assailant had stowed himself aboard at Port Said when the first attempt on Geoffrey's life had failed. The man's anxiety to recover the poniard knife aroused Geoffrey's suspicion, particularly after what the captain had said, and he always carried it with him as well as his automatic.

Geoffrey saw Phyllis off by the 7.30 p.m. mail from the Victoria Terminus and was returning to his room at the Taj Mahal on foot. His heart was full, for he knew that he loved her. A month ago he would have laughed at the possibility of such an idea, but he now realised that love had conquered in spite of his late fiancee's treacherous conduct. But he also knew that he had volunteered with open eyes for a mission in which the chances of death were almost certain. He could not now draw back. Honour had prevented him from saying anything to Phyllis, and he determined to try and forget her.

Having arrived at what he regarded as this irreversible decision, he stepped out briskly and soon reached the palm-shaded entrance of the big hotel. His room was on the third floor, and the lift shot upwards. The main corridor was lit up, but his room was situated off a passage which led away to the right. This passage was in gloom, and Geoffrey strode along to his room. When almost opposite his door an indeterminate mass which he had scarcely noticed on the floor suddenly unfolded itself, and he found himself confronted by a tall man who appeared gigantic in the semi-darkness. Geoffrey saw the gleam of his teeth, and his hand involuntarily clutched the ever-ready automatic.

"Barraklo Sanib, it is I, Sher Khan. Have you forgotten me?" "Sher Khan, by Jove!"—the sudden relief from tension almost made him laugh—"what on earth are you doing here?"

How well he remembered the big Pathan whose life he had managed to save on one occasion in Flanders. It was during a raid in December 1914, when Geoffrey had been going his nightly round of inspection of the trenches—he was a Sapper. Sher Khan had been left behind to die in No Man's Land, but Geoffrey had seen him move in the flare of a very light and had brought him back to a safety. The Pathan had recovered consciousness at the dressing-station, and had asked to see his deliverer. On Geoffrey's arrival, he had faintly sworn to repay the deed and had once more relapsed into unconsciousness.

"Sanib, after you gave me back my life I was sent to hospital, where I lingered for many months. The doctors said I would be of no further use, and they sent me back to my home with my discharge. But am I woman or a little child? I was soon strong again and returned to my regiment. But there I was told that I had been discharged, and could not, therefore, be taken back.

Lt.-Col. Geoffrey Barracough.

Geoffrey locked the door once more and switched on the electric light. He beckoned Sher Khan to be seated, and then quickly told him the outline of his mission.

"The sanib is going to Bottiyal?

Tibet? He has already been attacked by a lascar? The sanib will need a servant. Am I not the sanib's man? I will come."

"But, Sher Khan, I will go to land of great cold, a land of unbelievers."

"Were the ter-reaches in France so very warm? And where were the followers of the Prophet there?"

"But thou art a soldier."

"And what art thou, sanib? Surely it will be soldier's work of those infidels."

And please Allah we will kill many

"But what about your horses?"

"I have bought none yet. Say no more, sanib, I will come."

The big Pathan stood up and saluted, but Geoffrey hid out his hand.

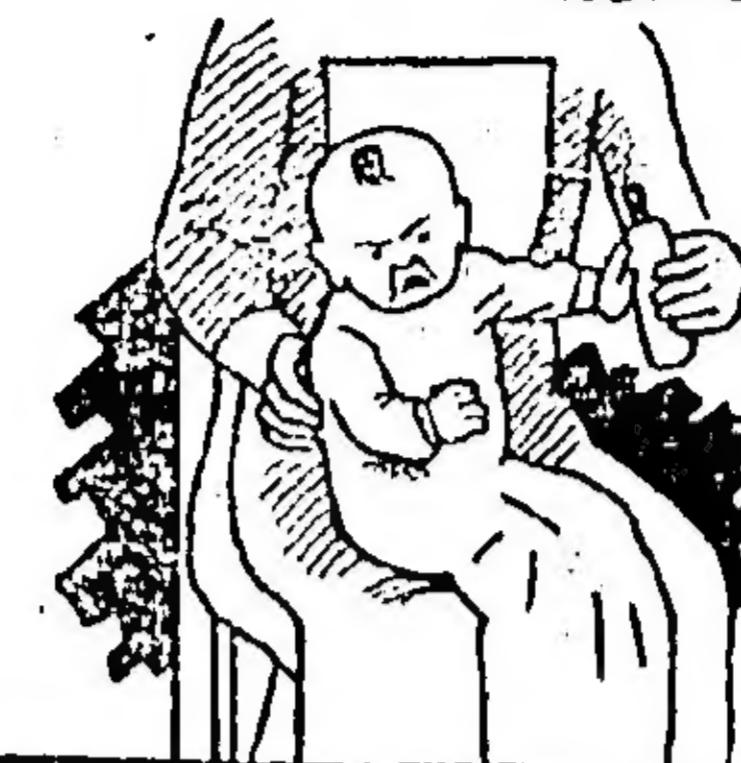

"Thank you, Sher Khan," he said in English. And thus the partnership was sealed.

The next day saw the completion of their preparations, the most important of which was the selection of weapons for the Pathan. Geoffrey was already armed. Before he had left London he had bought a light double-barrelled .240 rifle with a very high velocity. He had selected a double pistol because he preferred that type of weapon, and partly because it could be easily taken to pieces, when the component parts were of such a size that they could be hidden about the person with comparative comfort, provided one was clad in big coat. Further, the two barrels would enable him to get in a second shot without risking the betrayal of his position by the movement and noise which are inseparable from the loading of a magazine. This last point had stood him in good stead on more than one occasion when after big game, and he thought it would be equally useful should he ever be attacked by man.

New Hair Style Advocated

Hint From Hollywood.

By JOAN BENNETT

EVER since I made my debut in pictures, until this last month, I have worn my blonde hair in a long bob. I had a reason. My neck is fairly long—no in my nose. I always thought to wear my hair short would accentuate those two features. So while other players changed to wind-blown shingles and bobs, Elton crops, "blings" and "mingles," I was still faithful to my long bobbed curly. Then one day recently, the make-up and hairdressing expert at Fox Studios showed me a portrait of a model very like myself in features who had had her hair dressed in a Riviera bob. Half an hour later my longish curly were strewn on the floor. Let me try to describe the new hairstyle.

The hair is parted at the left side quite low on the temple. The left side of the hair is then curled in loose "baby" curls, and brushed back from the face, but still concealing the left ear. The rest of the hair is brushed well back from the forehead and has just one big wave on the right side to keep it tidy.

The back is curled into tiny broken ringlets which are combed outwards, and thus give the illusion of mass of waves rather than actual curls. The side view, with the hair actually combed behind the right ear, gives the idea of tiny curls, which are built up rather high on the head, to counteract the plain unwaved side of the hair in front.

This Riviera bob is very youthful, does not get out of order quickly, and is rapidly becoming the rage in Hollywood. Jean Harlow, among other stars, has had her hair cut and curled this way.

In the office or in the home—at work or at play—neatness counts!

The Flat-Face Case

THE "flat-face" cigarette case beats the record cargo of cigarettes with twenty. The case is of black, blue, or green enamel with a smart silver stripe. It is as flat as your hand and about as long.

Unusual Swim Suits

AMONG the unusual swim-suits this year are some in turquoise blue, maize yellow, Jade and chocolate brown of a new fancy stitched wool. Some have sections of silk fish-net let in down the sides.

Organza Dresses

STRIPED organza and cotton mixture dresses for evening have no backs and very little sides. They have a contrastingly severe front which covers the collar bones. Straps attached to the top of the bodice tie in a large crisp bow at the back to keep the dress up.

Washable Shoes

WASHABLE shoes of plaid gingham and linen are cleaned by scrubbing with pure soap and a toothbrush. They must not be allowed to get too wet, and should be dried after wards on trees.

"Clothes For The Red Head"

does not flaunt a single bow or ribbon.

The second don't has to do with the colour red. It simply will not harmonise with hair that is auburn, carot or henna, so do not try it out, no matter how you yearn for a new red frock, Nancy advises. The same rule goes for orange, but yellow is an excellent shade for red heads.

The third don't warns the tawny-heads to stop dressing dramatically in all-black outfits. Not that black is unbecoming. It is decidedly flattering. But the consistent use of it is too obvious. Be subtle by adding white to the dead black frock and hat, wear sea green in place of jade green and purple blues in place of the tired-out baby blue varieties.

"My last piece of sartorial advice to my sister red-heads is to dress always with cleancut effects," concludes Nancy. "Try to look trim, well-pressed and jauntily assembled. Stick to severe tailored clothes for daytime and daringly simple frocks for evening and your hair will do the rest."

THERE the three dominating "Don'ts" every red-haired woman must obey if she is to take full advantage of her colourings, according to Nancy Carroll, Paramount's fiery-haired star.

The first don't has to do with the wearing of ruffles, veils and any other over-feminine accent. Veils are not made for red-heads. Let the blondes and brunettes wear them while titan-tressed damsels stick to the tailored, daring millinery that

The Perspiration Problem

Total Check Might Prove Fatal.

CARE WITH DEODORANTS

IS it harmful to check perspiration? No. There are two kinds of perspiration, really. A general perspiration is given off all over the body all the time. Except in very hot or humid surroundings, this evaporates quickly and continuously. This process of perspiration serves to discharge the moisture and heat of the body.

It would be harmful, perhaps fatal, to check this flow of perspiration entirely all over the body at one time. But local areas of the skin perspire excessively—the armpits, for instance. This is a local irregularity of the sweat glands. The very contour of the body prevents the evaporation of the moisture expelled here. It is confined against the skin and the clothing and is quickly subject to fermentation.

Checking this excessive local perspiration by the application of a non-perspirant, is not harmful in any way. The perspiration is simply discharged somewhere else on the body, where its flow is not noticeable.

Some women think that perspiration-checks harm the clothes. They do not if they are applied correctly.

as the makers suggest. After any liquid deodorant dries on the skin you should rinse the underarms before putting on your dress. Why? In drying, a liquid deodorant leaves tiny crystals on the skin. These may later take up water from the air, just as salt does in a dish on the table. When the deodorant crystals do this, they form liquid again and those spoil a dress.

Higher Corsets

CORSETS are at last being made with higher, shaped tops, so that these do not roll over beneath the waistband of a fitted skirt.

GARROD TO DEFEND LONG PLUNGE TITLE

V.R.C. Championship Events On Sept. 2.

WEBB NOT COMPETING IN THROWING POLO BALL

Entries for the Long Plunge and the Water-Polo Ball Open Championships, which are being staged under the auspices of the Victoria Recreation Club at their gates on September 2, closed yesterday.

S. H. Garrod, who won the Colony's Long Plunge Championship last year with a distance of 61 feet 9 inches, is to defend his title again.

J. R. Soares, who distanced 60 feet in 1931 to win the title, and J. A. Victor, who won the event in 1930 with a distance of 61 feet 9 inches, are also among the competitors.

Mr. C. J. Cooke, the veteran swimmer, holds the Colony's record for this event with a distance of 67 feet in the 1928.

W. Lawrence, who won the Throwing the Water-Polo Ball title in 1931 with a distance of 68 feet heads the list of entries for the event this year. F. Webb, last year's winner at 62 feet 7 inches, is not defending his title.

T. Paget, B. Gorano and W. Mullaby (H.M.S. Wishart) are other prominent entries for this event.

The full list of entries are as follows:

Y.M.C.A. WIN RELAY FROM C.B.C.

MISS YEUNG SAU KING SCRATCHES 2 EVENTS

DONN WITHDRAWS FROM THE 100 YARDS BACK STROKE

AVERAGING just a fraction over 28.15 seconds per man, the Y.M.C.A. "A" relay team snatched a brilliant victory from the Chinese Bathing Club and the South China Athletic Association in the first heat of the Men's 220 Yards Open Relay in the Hong Kong International Amateur Swimming Association Championships at the Y.M.C.A. last night.

The announcement that Miss Yeung Sau-king, South China's brilliant lady swimmer, was still indisposed and would not take part in the heats again caused great disappointment. She will now be competing in only three instead of probably six individual events.

In Miss Yeung's absence Mrs. M. Read (nee Mandie George) secured a well-deserved victory in the first heat of the Ladies' 100 Yards Free Style, beating Miss Leung Sau-chun, sister of Miss Yeung Sau-king, by four seconds.

Although A. G. Donn scratched from his Men's 100 Yards Back Stroke championship heat in order to preserve his strength for the Open Relay he failed to enter the Final of the Men's 220 Yards Free Style. Tsang Ho-fook (C.B.C.) registering a better time.

H. Lange (Y.M.C.A.) won the second heat of the Men's 220 Yards Free Style in 2 mins. 43.3/5 seconds and is now a warm favourite for the Final. He covered his first 100 Yards in 64 seconds and was five yards ahead of A. G. Donn (Y.M.C.A.) at this stage.

The last heat in this event provided a thrilling duel between W. T. Campbell (Y.M.C.A.) and Tsang Ho-fook (C.B.C.). Throughout the eight lengths the two swimmers were neck and neck until at the last turning Campbell spurted to win by five yards.

Tong Drops Out.

Chun Fook-sing (C.S.S.C.) enjoyed an easy victory over Tong Po-chung (C.B.C.), who failed to complete the distance, in the first heat of the Men's 220 Yards Free Style.

The Wheat Agreement.

THE agreement reached in London, by which world wheat prices will be raised by almost 20 per cent, and supplies will be limited, will meet with general approval, and the fact that 29 nations reached unanimity on such a difficult problem in the short space of one week will do much to restore the confidence that was so rudely shaken by the collapse of the World Economic Conference. While some aspects of the agreement are viewed as undesirable by many, any immediate controversy is unlikely, and the accord at London will be hailed with universal satisfaction. Many points require amending, but from the cabled reports it is apparent that the agreement is most comprehensive and every provision is made for worldwide control of the handling of wheat, including the main features of production, export and price. The beneficial effects of the agreement are already seen in the advances of the Liverpool futures market on Friday, immediately news of the success of the Conference became known. Yesterday's Wall Street advices are to the effect that a "bullish" construction is inferred from the Conference so that considerable advances on the grain exchanges may be expected within the next few days.

The price of wheat should be higher admits no dispute, particularly as all the world's economists, politicians and financiers are now agreed that all price levels must be restored. The achievement in ensuring that the value of one of the principal commodities is to be appreciated is a notable one, and will be especially gratifying to the American administration which is meeting with some difficulty in proceeding with President Roosevelt's Recovery programme, the main object of which is to secure an all-round rise in price-levels. The exporting countries desired a greater increase in the price of wheat, but as several compromises had already been effected on other points they agreed to the new figure of 63.08 gold cents a bushel, as compared with the present quotation of between 53 and 64 cents. This price will be maintained for a period of four months before it will be necessary for importing countries to adjust their tariffs. It will be earnestly hoped that the start thus made on the lowering of tariffs will be continued in other spheres. A general reduction in tariffs would greatly facilitate the inter-change of goods and the resultant stimulus to trade would accomplish much to restore international trade and commerce. The United States Government have already announced that a reduction of 15 per cent in wheat acreage has been tentatively decided, but American policy in this direction had already been decided, and, in fact, has already been applied to other commodities, principally cotton. It is in this connection that the agreement will receive most criticism, as there are many who are strongly opposed to the principle of curtailing production. However no alternative solution has been found, and it is significant that Australia, the chief opponent to the scheme for reduced production, was silent on this occasion. It is assumed that Australia has accepted an unpleasant necessity as a temporary expedient.

To the average individual, the wheat agreement may appear complicated—although a clear conception can be readily gained of the idea of raising price levels to permit Customs to tariffs to be lowered—but it possesses a deep significance as affording evidence that international accord can be reached when circumstances compel a decision. The Wheat Conference, starting on Monday and concluding on Friday was one of the shortest important gatherings of recent years. It possesses an added value in that it will serve as a precedent, and a warning, when the World Economic Conference reassembles. It must be admitted that a great deal of the preliminary work was done at the Economic Conference sessions while subsequently negotiations have been continued at Geneva. But what was probably the main factor at the Conference was the threat of the two largest wheat-producing countries, the United States and Canada to dump to their huge surplus stocks of grain. In the event of the Conference's failure, the threat was a desperate one but the plight of the wheat farmers in America and Canada called for desperate measures. From this distance it is not clear what influence the American ultimatum exerted on the Conference deliberations, but it undoubtedly acted as a considerable incentive to the various delegates to reach an early accord.

"MONKS" OF CHURCH OF ENGLAND

Brothers Of The Holy Cross.

11 TAKE HIGH VOWS

London.
There are now "monks" in the Church of England for the first time since the Reformation.

They are 11 young men—the Brothers of the Holy Cross. For eight years they have been on probation, but now they have completed their tests.

So these young men—in the presence of the Bishop of Southwark, Dr. Parsons—have taken vows almost identical to those of monks in the Roman Catholic Church.

The ceremony was, it is believed, the only one of its kind to have taken place in the Church of St. Chrysostom, Hill-street, Peckham, for it was the Vicar of that Parish, the Rev. George Potter, who founded the Brotherhood of the Holy Cross.

The Brothers had never been recognised by the Bishops of the Church of England until this ceremony, when the Bishop of Southwark came to the Church with a two-fold object—to sanction the constitution of the Brotherhood and formally and publicly to approve its way of life.

Half-way through the service the 11 young men stood before the Bishop, who wore his full episcopal robes and mitre, and made a declaration which they afterwards signed.

They declared that as long as they lived, they would not possess any money or property of any kind, that they would act in strict obedience to the vicar, that they would only receive food and clothing, and that they would never marry or seek to marry.

The Brothers' dress exactly like Roman Catholic monks, wearing girdles and going about the streets bared-headed. They will work in hostels and similar institutions in the Parish.—Reuter.

TOURING EUROPE ON DONKEYS.

Mixed Turkish Party's Novel Trip.

Istanbul.
Thirty Turkish men and women are planning to make a tour of Europe—on donkeys.

In preparation for their travels, they are reported to have arranged to buy 60 donkeys—two mounts each—from Pinkipio, Leon Trotsky's island retreat which famous for its herds of these animals.

They applied to the Turkish Tourist Club for assistance, but were refused any help in their undertaking.

Nevertheless, the "donkey tourists" hope to leave for Sofia in a few weeks time.—Reuter.

PRISONER FREED TO BE MARRIED.

Gracious Act By Nazi Authorities.

Munich.
It takes more than stone walls to make a prison in Bavaria, providing that you are in love. This is the experience of Dr. Schlegel, who has resumed prison life in Regensburg gaol after a 24-hour honeymoon.

A barrister by profession, he was recently put under "protective arrest" by the Nazis. At the time he was desperately in love and confined his troubles to his gaolers.

The Nazi authorities suggested marriage as a remedy and granted him a day's freedom on parole.

After receiving the Governor's congratulations, Dr. Schlegel walked out of prison one fine summer morning and took his bride to the registry office and then to church in the officially approved fashion.

The next morning, he reported at the prison gates.—Reuter.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

FIELD-SCHROTER—The engagement is announced of Mr. Bevan Clarence Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vaughan-Field of Hornchurch, Essex, to Miss Elsa Schrotter, daughter of the late Mr. Carl Schrotter and Mrs. Grace Schrotter of Hong Kong, and granddaughter of Mrs. Benbow-Rosa of Shanghai and Hong Kong.

It contains a highly original clause.

Austria agrees to increase her import quotas for Polish eggs and pigs.

Poland agrees to abolish her present high passport fees (£13 a head) in the case of Polish tourists travelling to Austria. Five thousand tourists will be given free passage to Austria for a period of seven days, and thereafter the visa fee is reduced to £3.

LONDON TOPICS

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT

July 21.

The King's Champion.

Mr. Frank Scammon Dymoke, the Hon. the King's Champion and the Standard Bearer of England, celebrated his 71st birthday recently at his home at Scrivelsby.

The Dymokes have dwelt at Scrivelsby for more than five centuries, and the Championship, the peculiar badge of their house, is strictly attached to the feudal ownership of the manor.

In theory, it is the right and duty of the Champion, armed to teeth and mounted on horseback, to ride into Westminster Hall at every coronation, and to challenge all who should deny the King to be the lawful sovereign.

Alas! in this less picturesque age the will is taken for the deed.

The Dymokes have not thrown down the gauntlet since the coronation of George IV.

E. T. R.

Handsome genial, white-bearded, E. T. Reed is dead, and much laughter will die with him. Although it is over 20 years since he left "Punch," in which the bulk of his caricatures appeared, he was drawing until quite recently for other illustrated papers, with no loss of vitality or humour.

He kept himself up-to-date, and only a few days ago an extraordinarily funny drawing of his suggesting what might happen if Epstein collaborated in a Cochran revue was seen. His daughter was on the stage.

"E. T. R." spent much of his early life in Japan and always kept in touch with Japanese people. There was something of the meticulous neatness of a Japanese print in the witty illustrated letters he used to write to his friends.

A King's Bench Bomb.

On July 14 was the anniversary of a curious form of political propaganda.

In 1797, while the courts were in session at Westminster Hall, the serenity of the King's Bench was broken when a large brown paper parcel crammed with fireworks began to disintegrate. As the crackers rattled and burst they threw out balls of printed bills which intimated that on the last day of term five rebels would be publicly burned in the hall.

The rebels were five unpopular Acts of Parliament.

A grand jury at once declared one of the bills to be a wicked, false, and scandalous libel. A reward of £200 was offered by proclamation for the detection of the author, printer, or publisher. But nothing was ever discovered.

Covent Garden Concerts?

It is now less likely than ever that Covent Garden will be pulled down in the near or even distant future. But at least £40,000 will have to be spent on alterations, in obedience to L.C.C. requirements, before it can open again as a theatre. For this, the money will be forthcoming.

A plan under discussion is to use the theatre for symphony concerts, with B.B.C. support, when there is no opera season.

There is the sanction of precedent, since many years ago promenade concerts were held at Covent Garden, under the conductorship of Riviere, and, later, of Arthur Sullivan.

The March of Knowledge.

Mr. Harry Cohn, the head of the Columbia Picture Corporation, who is in this country to make a big British film, tells a good story about a famous Hollywood producer.

It appears that in viewing a recent picture the producer found the music in one sequence too fast. "The only thing we can put in that would be slower would be Chopin's 'Marche Funèbre,'" said the sarcastic director.

"That's just what I want," replied the producer.

"Well, how much of it would you use?" asked the director, in some bewilderment.

"A verse and two choruses," said the great man promptly, as he hurried off to settle other less difficult problems.

INSULL ARRESTED IN ATHENS

MILLIONAIRE INDUSTRIALIST FACES GAOL.

Athens, Yesterday. Samuel Insull, Senior, has been arrested. The American Government have formally requested his extradition based on a new indictment charging him with violation of the bankruptcy laws.

IN EXILE SINCE OCTOBER.

Washington, Yesterday. The United States Government have decided to demand the extradition of Samuel Insull, the London-born ex-millionaire, who has been in exile in Greece since last October when the Greek courts refused to grant his extradition to America to meet charges of embezzlement and larceny.

Officials of the State Department are reticent as to the grounds for a fresh application.—Reuter.

MACHADO'S ACTS NOW ILLEGAL.

Havana, Yesterday. A new Cuban regime has begun.

The Provisional President, Dr. Carlos Cespedes Y. Ortiz, issued a decree on Friday night restoring the 1901 Constitution, dissolving the National Congress, Deposing all Governors of Provinces, denouncing ex-President Machado as a usurper and declaring all his acts of Government illegal, though the Provisional Government will recognise all international obligations incurred under ex-President Machado's administration.

New Judges and Magistrates have been appointed and ex-President Machado formally deposed.

The new elections have been fixed for February 24, 1934.

CODES RULE INDUSTRY

14 OPERATING IN AMERICA'S RECOVERY PLAN

30 More Codes By September 1.

ROOSEVELT ORDERS 1934 BUDGET ECONOMY.

Washington, Yesterday. Fourteen Codes are now operating in American industries as the result of the drive made by the National Industry Recovery Administration, headed by General Hugh Johnson. The latest Code, applying to rayon silk weavers, was promulgated to-day.

Thirty other Codes are set down for hearing before September 1, including one for the coal industry which, on Wednesday last, attempted to have 29 separate proposals.

Failing a settlement, however, President Roosevelt has given the industry until Tuesday next to agree upon a Code or have one imposed upon them.

The motor-car manufacturers have accepted the revised Code which General Johnson hopes the Labour Unions will accept, but the druggists have rejected their Code as improper and illegal. A Code is being drafted to fix prices at all retail establishments.

President Roosevelt had ordered that the Budget for the next financial year shall be restricted to the economy limit this year.

Estimates are to be submitted as early as possible, so that the Congressional Committee can get into full swing before the next session of Congress opens in January.—Reuter.

U.S. STEEL FIRM OPTIMISTIC

Improved Results Last Quarter.

BETHLEHEM REPORT

New York, Yesterday. Progressive improvement has been shown in the business of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. since the beginning of the second quarter, May recorded an improvement over April and there was a better gain in June. July, thus far, has shown up best.

Second quarter results will be materially improved over the first three months, the Corporation will, however, again fail to cover depreciation and interest charges in the second quarter.

During the early part of the current recovery in the steel industry, Bethlehem lagged behind other companies, due primarily to the fact that the active demand appeared first in the Middle West and was led by consumptive requirements of the automotive industry.

NO INFLATION OF CURRENCY IN AMERICA

New Announcement Of Policy.

WOODIN NOT RESIGNING FROM TREASURY

Conflicting Reports.

Washington, Yesterday. The matters discussed at the meeting yesterday between President Roosevelt and the United States Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. William H. Woodin, are the subject of conflicting reports.

According to Reuter, Mr. Woodin has denied the "United Press" report that his resignation and the inflation of currency were discussed. There is a general agreement, however, that the gold-hoarding problem and the ways and means of making hoarders' disgorge, figured prominently in the talk.

The United States Administration will not inflate currency, according to an announcement made by the United States Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. William H. Woodin, after a conference with President Roosevelt, yesterday.

Mr. Woodin also declared that he was not resigning from his administrative post.

INFLATION NOT DISCUSSED?

Reuter's Version Of Meeting.

Hyde Park, New York, Yesterday.

After a long conference with President Roosevelt, the United States Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. William H. Woodin declared that neither inflation nor his resignation were discussed.

He said that he assured the President that the Treasury was in healthy condition and well able to handle the expenditure of $3,300,000,000 on Public Works.

President Roosevelt and Mr. Woodin also discussed the executive order defining gold for purpose of enforcing the anti-hoarding decree which President Roosevelt is expected to sign shortly.

MONTAGU NORMAN TO VISIT NEW YORK.

New York, Yesterday.

The decline of sterling and the dollar is the main topic in the newspapers here, to-day together with the arrival yesterday of M. Leon Fraser, President of the Bank of International Settlements, and the fact that Mr. Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, will visit New York next week.

The "Journal of Commerce" suggests that Mr. Norman's visit is concerned with a stabilisation pact by simultaneous devaluation of the dollar and sterling, and a return to the gold standard.

The United States Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. William H. Woodin, declares that currency inflation in the United States is not at present being considered.—Reuter.

Washington, Yesterday. Regulations aiming at the controlling of the relationship of the Federal Reserve banks to foreign banks were to-day issued by the Federal Reserve Board.

The regulations require the Federal Reserve banks to submit, forthwith, full information concerning all existing relationships and transactions with foreign banks, and forbidding Federal Reserve bank representatives to negotiate with foreign banks except in pursuance of agreements previously approved by the Board.—Reuter.

WHEAT PRICES RISE AFTER AGREEMENT

U.S. To Cut Acreage By 15 Per Cent.

BULLISH REACTION ON MARKETS.

London, Yesterday. A quick reaction was provided to the Wheat Agreement reached yesterday by 29 countries and which ensures controlled production and a rise of 10 gold cents a bushel in the price of wheat. Wheat prices immediately advanced on the Liverpool markets, while advices from New York state that a bullish construction is inferred from the London Wheat Conference.

The Agreement adds that the importing countries agree, that in order to restore more normal conditions in the world wheat trade, a reduction of Customs tariffs must be accompanied by a modification in the general regime of quantitative restriction on wheat imports, and they accept on the principle of desirability of such a modification.

The exporting countries agree that it may be possible to make substantial progress in these modifications during 1933-34, but importing countries are prepared to make effective alterations during 1934-35 if world prices have taken a definitely upward turn from the average price of the first month of 1933.—Reuter & British Wireless Service.

EXONERATES BROTHER

"I KILLED HER WITH AN ICE - BREAKER"

Calm Confession To Portuguese Consul.

WAS ANGERED WITH HIS COMMON-LAW WIFE.

Shanghai, Yesterday.

A sensation was caused here this morning, when Patricio dos Remedios, one of the two Portuguese brothers charged with the trunk murder, calmly confessed to one of the most horrible killings in the history of Shanghai crime.

By his confession, Patricio has completely exonerated his brother, Jose Eulula dos Remedios, from complicity in the murder of Choy Ling, the former's common-law wife, whose body was found in a trunk on board the s.s. Shanghai Maru, on her arrival at Kobe early this month.

The confession was made to the Portuguese Consul-General at the Portuguese Consular Court, at the preliminary hearing of the case.

"I plead 'guilty.' I got angry and killed her in my room with an ice-breaker," the accused man declared.

He then went on to say that the crime took place on the night of August 4. The next morning he placed the dead body in a black trunk, which he later took on board the N.Y.K. liner, "Shanghai Maru." His brother, he stated, knew nothing of the crime until late on August 5. No one had helped him to place the body in the trunk or to take the trunk on the liner.

The confession was made in low, calm tones, and Patricio signed a written copy of his statement firmly and unwaveringly.

It is understood that, following committal, the trial will be held in Macao.

The two brothers, both of whom were educated at St. Francis Xavier's College, Shanghai, where they have fine records, were formally charged with the homicide of a Chinese female in the Hongkew district, on August 18.

The body was then thought to that of Mary

Chapter IV.— IN OLD DELHI.

(By GERALD BURRARD)

THE harbour of Bombay, with the single exception of that of Sydney, is probably the most beautiful in the world, and Phyllis watched with delight the scene unfold itself in the early-morning sunlight as she and Geoffrey stood in the bows of the steamer. The palm-studded islands and shores, the vessels riding at anchor, the rugged forts, the towering mass of the Taj Mahal hotel, and the long, low roof of the Yacht Club. It was all very beautiful, but although the moment for which he had so often longed was now at hand, and he was once more to land on Indian soil, Geoffrey felt the sorrow of his approaching parting with Phyllis more keenly than the joy of his arrival.

She was to start up-country that evening for Delhi, where her father would meet her, and Geoffrey determined to make every possible arrangement for the comfort of her journey. He had told her nothing about the supposed lascar, merely letting her believe that he had carelessly slipped overboard when knocking out his pipe. In fact, none but the captain knew the truth, for it was found that no member of the ship's crew was missing, and so it was evident that his assailant had stowed himself aboard at Port Said when the first attempt on Geoffrey's life had failed. The man's anxiety to recover the peculiar knife aroused Geoffrey's suspicion, particularly after what the captain had said, and he always carried it with him as well as his automatique.

Geoffrey saw Phyllis off by the 7.30 p.m. mail from the Victoria Terminus, and was returning to his room at the Taj Mahal on foot. His heart was full, for he knew that he loved her. A month ago he would have laughed at the possibility of such an idea, but he now realised that love had conquered in spite of his late fiancee's treacherous conduct. But he also knew that he had volunteered with open eyes for a mission in which the chances of death were almost certain. He could not now draw back. Honour had prevented him from saying anything to Phyllis, and he determined to try and forget her.

Having arrived at what he regarded as this irrevocable decision, he stepped out briskly and soon reached the palm-shaded entrance of the big hotel. His room was on the third floor, and the lift shot upwards. The main corridor was lit up, but his room was situated off a passage which led away to the right. This passage was in gloom, and Geoffrey strode along to his room. When almost opposite his door an indeterminate mass which he had scarcely noticed on the floor suddenly unfolded itself, and he found himself confronted by a tall man who appeared gigantic in the semi-darkness. Geoffrey saw the gleam of his teeth, and his hand involuntarily clutched the ever-ready automatic.

"Barraklo Sahib, it is I, Sher Khan. Have you forgotten me?" "Sher Khan, by Jove!"—the sudden relief from tension almost made him laugh—"what on earth are you doing here?"

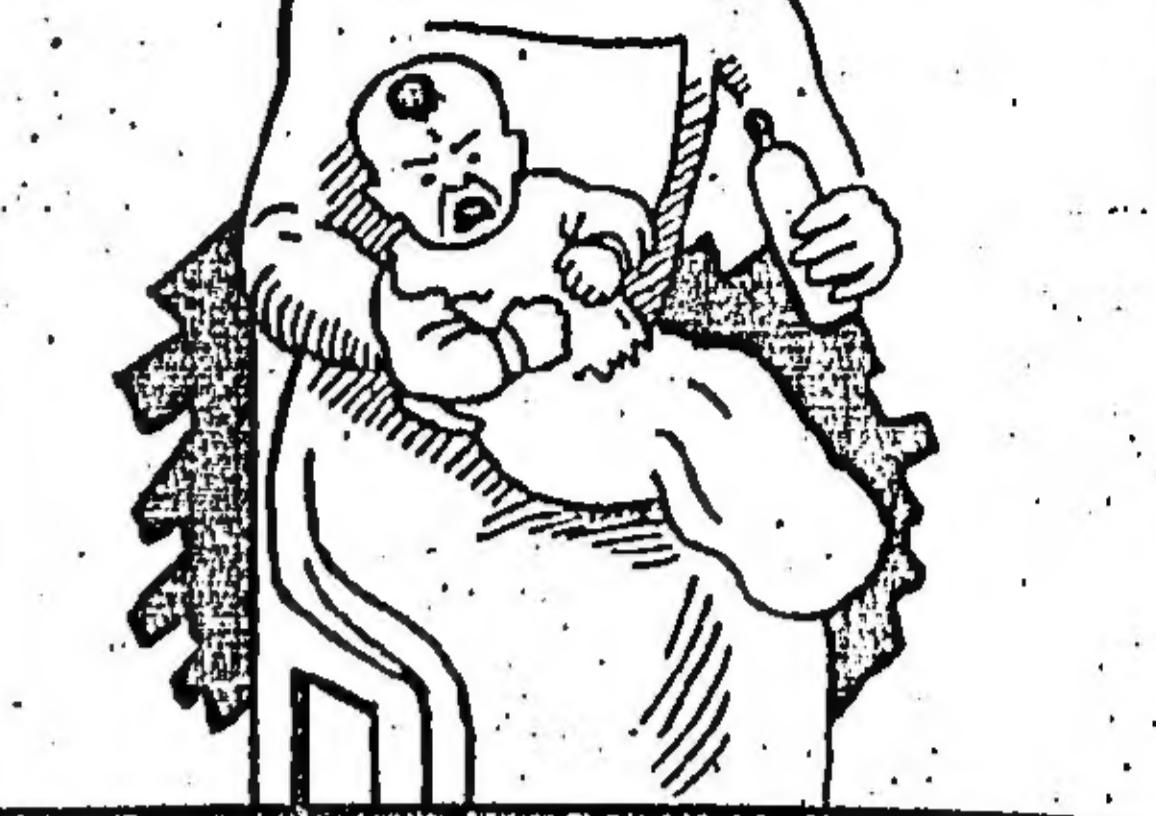

How well he remembered the big Pathan whose life he had managed to save on one occasion in Flunders. It was during a raid in December 1914, when Geoffrey had been going his nightly round of inspection of the trenches—he was a Sapper. Geoffrey was already armed. Before he had left London he had bought a light double-barrelled .240 rifle with a very high velocity. He had selected a double partly because he preferred that type of weapon, and partly because it could be easily taken to pieces, when the component parts were of such a size that they could be hidden about the person with comparative comfort, provided one was clad in a big coat. Further, the two barrels would enable him to get in a second shot without risking the betrayal of his position by the movement and noise which are inseparable from the loading of a magazine. This last point had stood him in good stead on more than one occasion when after big game, and he thought it would be equally useful should he ever be attacked by man.

Geoffrey locked the door once more and switched on the electric light. He beckoned Sher Khan to be seated, and then quickly told him the outline of his mission.

"The sahib is going to Botyial? Tibet? He has already been attacked by a lascar? The sahib will need a servant. Am I not the sahib's man? I will come."

"But, Sher Khan, I will be going to a land of great cold, a land of unbelievers."

"Were the tee-rencies in France so very warm? And where were the followers of the Prophet there?"

"But thou art a soldier."

"And what art thou, sahib? Surely it will be soldier's work of those infidels."

And please Allah we will kill many."

"But what about your horses?"

"I have bought none yet. Say no more, sahib, I will come."

The big Pathan stood up and saluted, but Geoffrey held out his hand.

"Thank you, Sher Khan," he said in English. And thus the partnership was sealed.

The next day saw the completion of their preparations, the most important of which was the selection of weapons for the Pathan. Geoffrey was already armed. Before he had left London he had bought a light double-barrelled .240 rifle with a very high velocity. He had selected a double partly because he preferred that type of weapon, and partly because it could be easily taken to pieces, when the component parts were of such a size that they could be hidden about the person with comparative comfort, provided one was clad in a big coat. Further, the two barrels would enable him to get in a second shot without risking the betrayal of his position by the movement and noise which are inseparable from the loading of a magazine. This last point had stood him in good stead on more than one occasion when after big game, and he thought it would be equally useful should he ever be attacked by man.

"Sahib, after you gave me back my life I was sent to hospital, where I lingered for many months. The doctors said I would be of no further use, and they sent me back to my home with my discharge. But am I woman or a little child? I was soon strong again and returned to my regiment. But there I was told that I had been discharged, and could not, therefore, be taken back

Hair From Hollywood.

By JOAN BENNETT

EVER since I made my debut in pictures, until this last month, I have worn my blonde hair in a Riviera bob. I had a reason. My neck is fairly long—so is my nose, always thought to wear my hair short would accentuate those two features. So while other players managed to wind blown shingles and bows, "Eton crops," "bangles" and "ringlets" I was still faithful to my bobbed curls. Then one day recently, the make-up and hairdresser expert at Fox Studios showed me a portrait of a model very like myself in features who had had her hair dressed in a Riviera bob. Half an hour later my longish curls were down on the floor. Let me try to describe the new hairdress. The hair is parted at the left side quite low on the temple. The left side of the hair is then curled in "baby" curls, and brushed back from the face, but still connecting the left ear. The rest of the hair is brushed well back from the forehead and has just one big wave on the right side to keep it tidy. The back is curled into tiny ringlets which are combed towards, and thus give the illusion of a mass of waves rather than real curls. The side view, with the hair actually combed behind the left ear, gives the idea of tiny pins, which are built up rather high on the head, to counteract the plain waved side of the hair in front. This Riviera bob is very youthful, does not get out of order quickly, and is rapidly becoming the rage. Hollywood. Jean Harlow, among other stars, has had her hair cut curled this way.

The Flat-Face Case

THE "flat-face" cigarette case beats the record cargo of cigarettes with twenty. The case is of black, blue, or green enamel with a smart silver stripe. It is as flat as your hand and about as long.

Unusual Swim Suits

AMONG the unusual swim-suits this year are some in turquoise blue, maize yellow, jade and chocolate brown of new fancy stitch wool. Some have sections of silk fish-net let in down the sides.

Organza Dresses

STRIPED organza and cotton mixture dresses for evening have no backs and very little sides. They have a contrastingly severe front which covers the collar bones. Straps attached to the top of the bodice tie in a large crisp bow at the back to keep the dress up.

Washable Shoes

WASHABLE shoes of plaid gingham and linen are cleaned by scrubbing with pure soap and a toothbrush. They must not be allowed to get too wet, and should be dried after wards on trees.

"Clothes For The Red Head"

does not flaunt a single bow or ribbon.

The second don't has to do with the colour red. It simply will not harmonise with hair that is auburn, carmine or henna, so do not try it out, no matter how you yearn for a new red frock, Nancy advises. The same rule goes for orange, but yellow is an excellent shade for red heads.

The third don't warns the tawny-heads to stop dressing dramatically in all-black outfits. Not that black is unbecoming. It is decidedly flattering. But the consistent use of it is too obvious. Be subtle by adding white to the dead black frock and hat, wear sea green in place of jade green and purple blues in place of the tired-out baby blue varieties.

"My last piece of sartorial advice to my sister red-heads is to dress always with clear-cut effects," concludes Nancy. "Try to look trim, well-pressed and jauntily assembled. Stick to severe tailored clothes for daytime and daringly simple frocks for evening and your hair will do the rest."

Avoid Over-Feminine Styles.

THERE the three dominating "Don'ts" every red-haired woman must obey if she is to take full advantage of her colourings, according to Nancy Carroll, Paramount's fiery-haired star.

The first don't has to do with the wearing of ruffles, veils and any other over-feminine accent. Veils are not made for red-heads. Let the blondes and brunettes wear them while titan-tressed damsels stick to the tailored, daring millinery that

White String Jumpers

THE newest string jumpers are in white, natural, stone colour, navy, and brown. They are worn over dark cotton skirts, topped with a white cotton mess jacket, which is newer than the sac coat.

All these jumpers close tightly at the throat. The dark string ones fasten with a couple of chalk white tiddly-wink buttons at the neck. Others have a tie passed inside the collar, like a man's, and knotted or tied in a bow.

The Perspiration Problem

Total Check Might Prove Fatal.

CARE WITH DEODORANTS

IS it harmful to check perspiration? No. There are two kinds of perspiration, really. A general perspiration is given off all over the body all the time. Except in very hot or humid surroundings, this evaporates quickly and continuously. This process of perspiration serves to discharge the moisture and heat of the body.

It would be harmful, perhaps fatal, to check this flow of perspiration entirely all over the body, at one time. But local areas of the skin perspire excessively—the armpits, for instance. This is a local irregularity of the sweat glands. The very contour of the body prevents the evaporation of the moisture expelled here. It is confined against the skin and the clothing and is quickly subject to fermentation.

Checking this excessive local perspiration by the application of a non-perspirant, is not harmful in any way. The perspiration is simply discharged somewhere else on the body, where its flow is not noticeable.

Some women think that perspiration-checks harm the clothes. They do not if they are applied correctly.

as the makers suggest. After any liquid deodorant dries on the skin you should rinse the underarms before putting on your dress. Why? In drying, a liquid deodorant leaves tiny crystals on the skin. These may later take up water from the air, just as salt does in a dish on the table. When the deodorant crystals do this, they form liquid again and those spoil a dress.

Higher Corsets

CORSETS are at last being made with higher, shaped tops, so that these do not roll over beneath the waistband of a fitted skirt.

GARROD TO DEFEND LONG PLUNGE TITLE

V.R.C. Championship Events On Sept. 2.

WEBB NOT COMPETING IN THROWING POLO BALL

Entries for the Long Plunge and Throwing the Water-Polo Ball Open Championships, which are being staged under the auspices of the Victoria Recreation Club at their gala on September 2, closed yesterday.

S. H. Garrod, who won the Colony's Long Plunge Championship last year with a distance of 61 feet 9 inches, is to defend his title again.

J. R. Soares, who distanced 60 feet in 1931 to win the title, and J. A. Victor, who won the event in 1930 with a distance of 61 feet 9 inches, are also among the competitors.

Mr. C. J. Cooke, the veteran swimmer, holds the Colony's record for this event with a distance of 67 feet in the 1928.

W. Lawrence, who won the Throwing the Water-Polo Ball title in 1931 with a distance of 68 feet heads the list of entries for the event this year. F. Webb, last year's winner at 62 feet 7 inches, is not defending his title.

T. Paget, B. Gosano and W. Mullaby (H.M.S.-Wishart) are other prominent entries for this event.

The full list of entries are as follows:

Long Plunge—S. H. Garrod, J. R. Soares, J. A. Victor, E. A. V. Remondos, M. M. de V. Soares, J. A. de Soares, F. X. Monteiro and E. B. da Rosa.

VERAGING just a fraction over 28.1/5 seconds per man, the Y.M.C.A. "A" relay team snatched a brilliant victory from the Chinese Bathing Club and the South China Athletic Association in the first heat of the Men's 220 Yards Open Relay in the Hong Kong International Amateur Swimming Association Championships at the Y.M.C.A. last night.

The announcement that Miss Yeung Sau-king, South China's brilliant lady swimmer, was still indisposed and would not take part in the heats again caused great disappointment. She will now be competing in only three instead of probably six individual finals.

In Miss Yeung's absence Mrs. M. Read (nee Maudie George) secured a well-deserved victory in the first heat of the Ladies' 100 Yards Free Style, beating Miss Yeung Sau-chun, sister of Miss Yeung Sau-king, by four seconds.

Although A. G. Donn scratched from his Men's 100 Yards Back Stroke championship heat in order to preserve his strength for the Open Relay he failed to enter the final of the Men's 220 Yards Free Style, Tsang Ho-fook (C.B.C.) registering a better time.

H. Lange (Y.M.C.A.) won the second heat of the Men's 220 Yards Free Style in 2 mins. 43.3/5 seconds and is now a warm favourite for the final. He covered his first 100 Yards in 64 seconds and was five yards ahead of A. G. Donn (Y.M.C.A.) at this stage.

The last heat in this event provided a thrilling duel between W. T. Campbell (Y.M.C.A.) and Tsang Ho-fook (C.B.C.). Throughout the eight lengths the two swimmers were neck and neck until at the last turning Campbell spurted to win by five yards.

Tong Drops Out.

Chan Fook-sing (C.S.C.) enjoyed an easy victory over Tong Po-cheung (C.B.C.), who failed to complete the distance in the first heat of the Men's 220 Yards Free Style.

The salvage of the millions of gold of the "Lutine" in the North Sea has been started. The "Lutine," an English ship was wrecked more than 100 years ago near the Isle of Terschelling, with about £2,500,000 on board. She lies about 15 feet under water, and covered with about 40 feet of sand. This picture shows the peculiar salvage apparatus which will be used to help recover the gold.—(S. & G.)

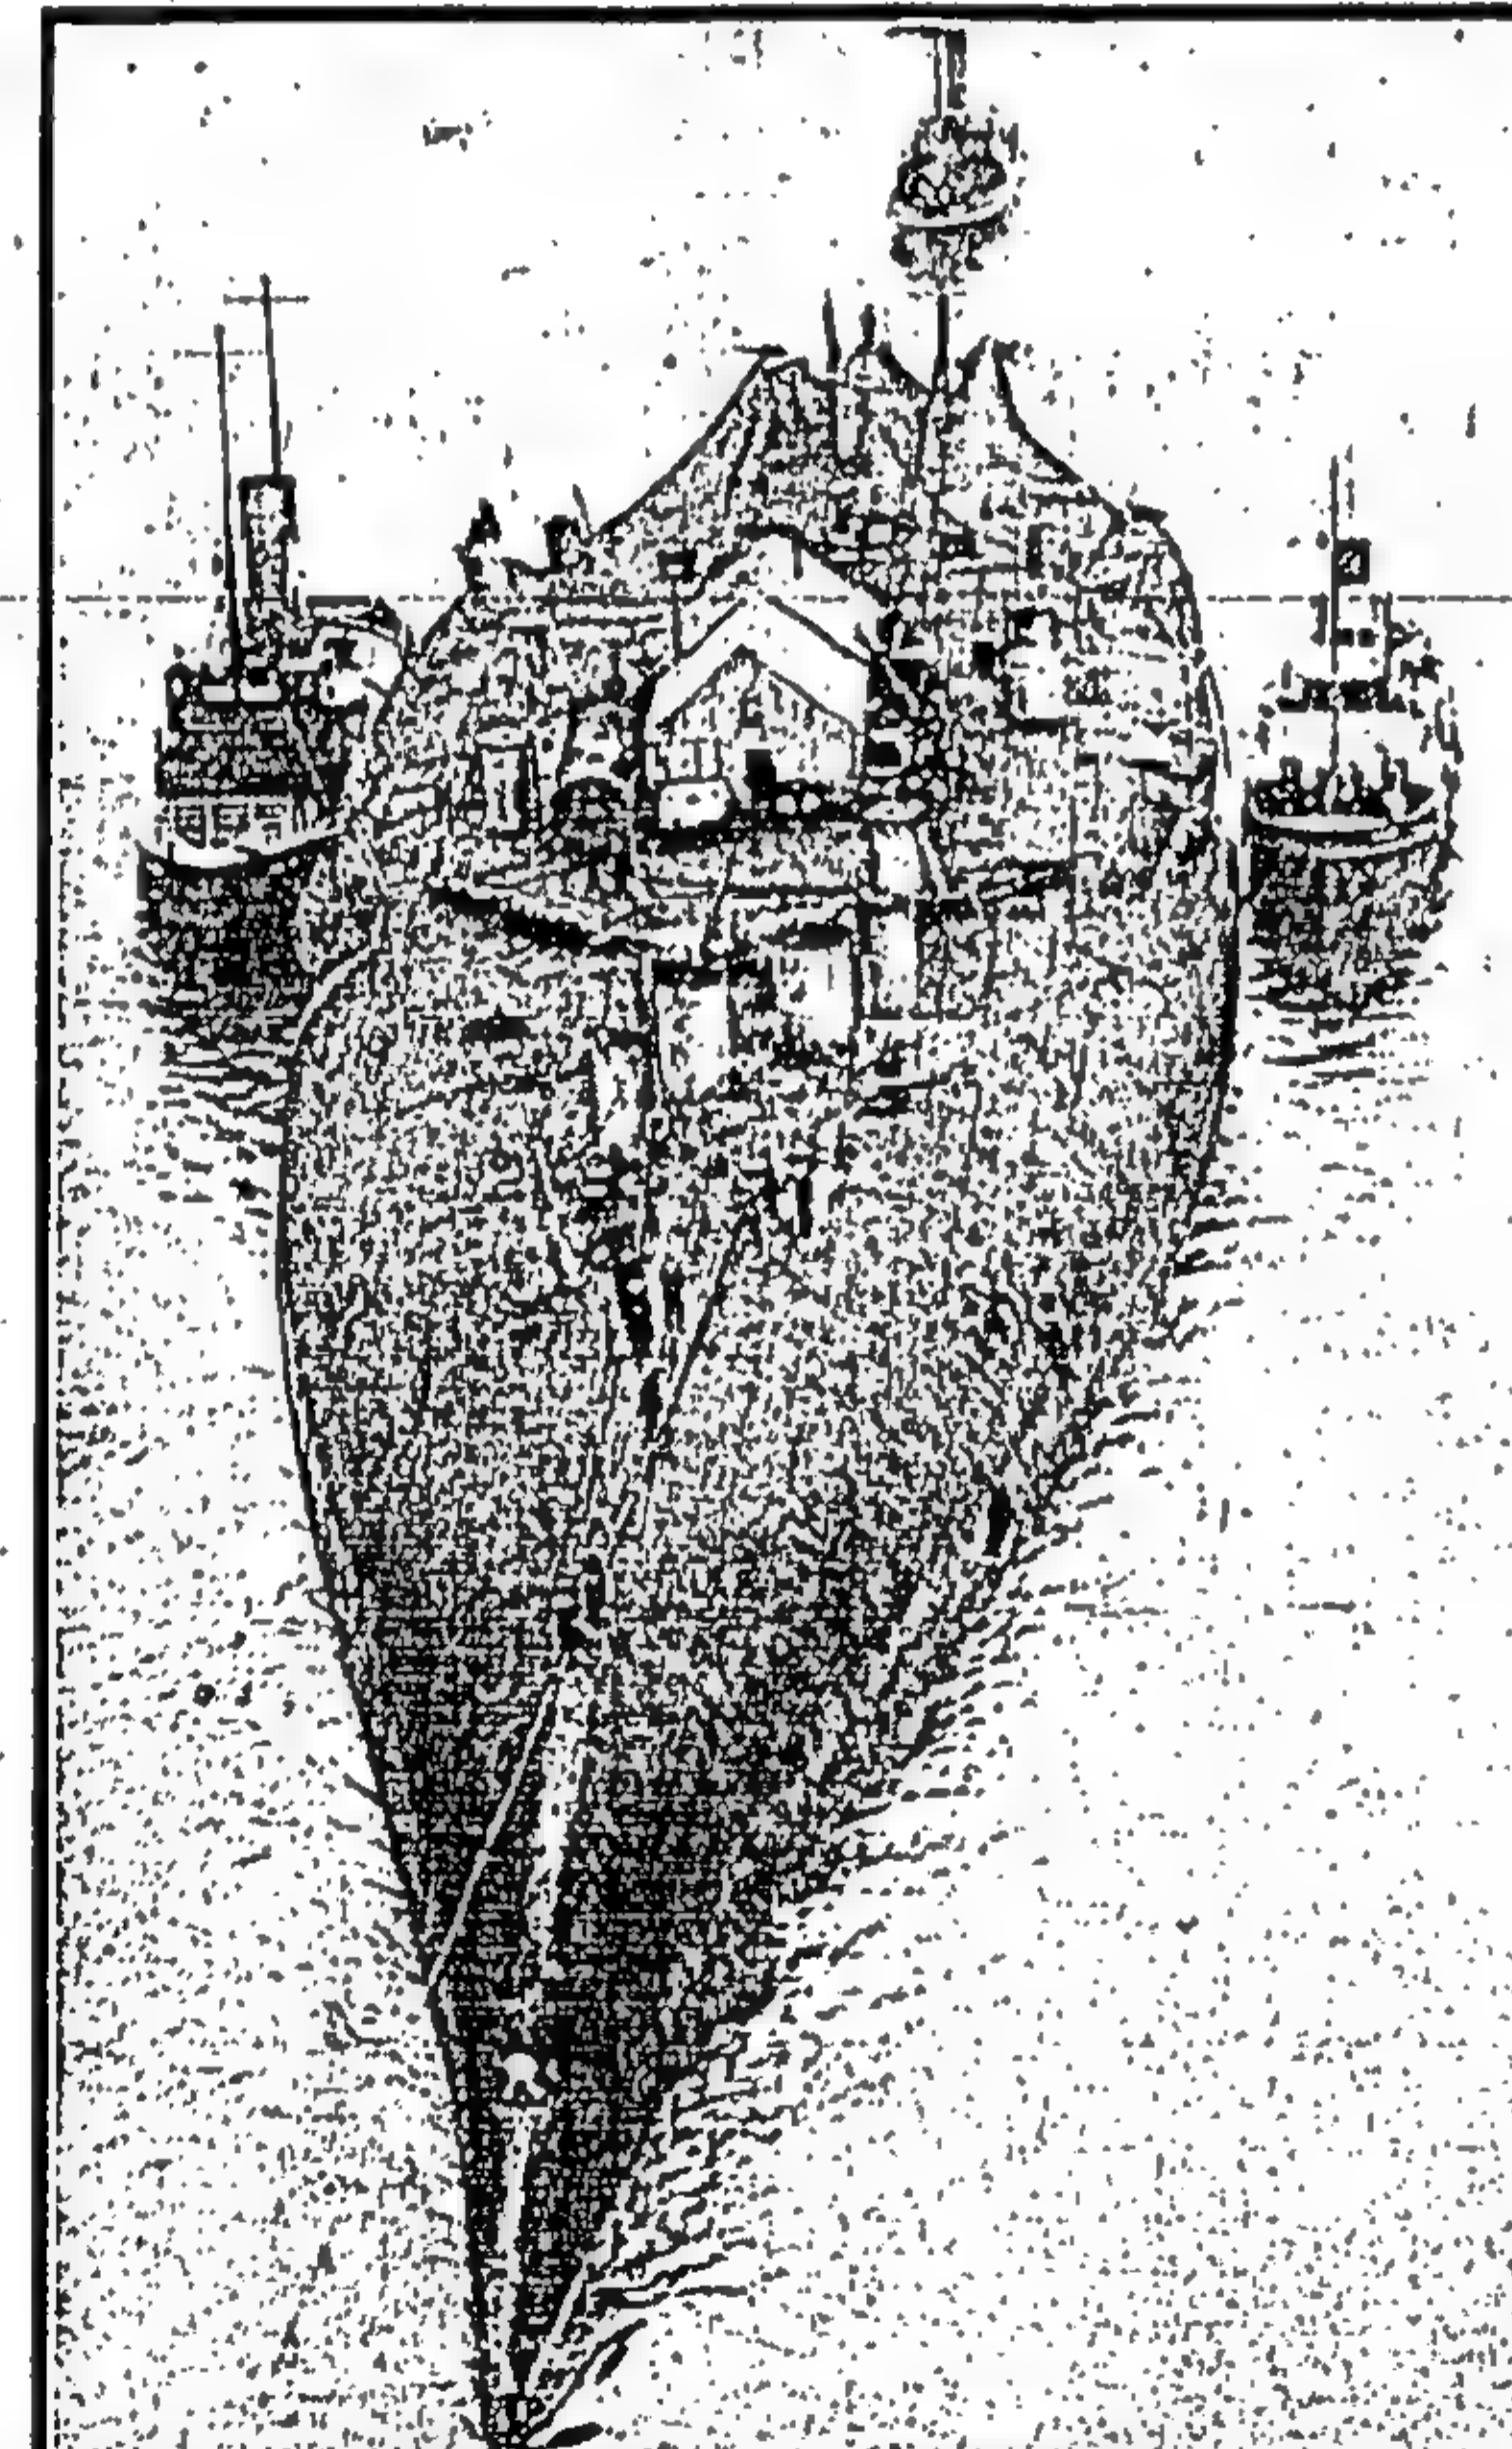

H.H.H. Prince George visited Epsom and Ewell Cottage Hospital, to witness an entertainment given under the auspices of the "Last We Forget Association" by race horse owners, trainers and jockeys. About 300 disabled ex-servicemen were among the audience. Prince George is shown here watching a remarkable display given by an elephant.—(S. & G.)

The German cruiser Prinz Regent Luitpold (24,700 tons), recently salvaged from Scapa Flow, being towed upside down to Rosyth, in the Firth of Forth, to be broken up.

Mr. Willey Post and his plane the "Winnie May" in which he recently flew round the world in 157 hours smashing all records for this flight. He took no chance as far as fuel and Lubigating oil was concerned relying upon Secony Gasoline and Gargoyle Mobiloil.

(Above)—The new styling expressed in the sloping of the radiator grill, the skirted fenders, the newly designed head lamps, the curve of the hood and the 20-degree incline in the windshield, gives car owners, like this well-known Chinese lady, a real pride in Ford ownership.

BARCELONA GAYEST CITY IN SPAIN

2,000 Dancing Girls Flock For Jobs, "BEAUTIFUL FIGURES" DEMANDED

Madrid. Two thousand cabaret dancing and vaudeville actresses are available for employment at actresses' agencies that line the short Calle Nou la Rambla in Barcelona. There are young and old, pretty and ugly, aspirants for jobs willing to accept prices ranging from two shillings an evening upward.

Cabaret owners, vaudeville managers and organizers of troupes to tour Spain go to this street for their "talent." Many of them ask no further qualifications than a beautiful figure.

There is a great demand in Barcelona now for a cabaret and vaudeville girls; for there is more night life in the Catalan capital than in any other city in Spain. The number of employed is estimated at 1,400, but the unemployed, as seen at the actresses' agencies, is much greater.—Reuter.

SLICED DRIVE NOT "ACT OF GOD."Court's Ruling On Golf Accident.

New York. Local lawyers have been pursuing a 19-page court decision based upon the vagaries of a sliced golf ball.

The decision, awarding $150 damages to a Miss Gleason was rendered by a Municipal Court Justice. The defendants were a Golf Club and Mr. Knorr, a production manager of a theatre.

Mr. Knorr drove the ball which crashed through the windshield of the car in which Miss Gleason was riding, lacerating both her eyelids. He said that he had hit it properly and it was going straight down the fairway when a gust of wind wafted it out to the highway. The gust, he said, made it an "act of God." The Judge who plays golf, ruled, however, that it was a just slice.—Reuter.

THIS WORLD OF OURS.
ODD FACTS OF SCIENCE IN EVERYDAY LIFE.

Government estimates indicate that the area to be sown to spring wheat in Canada this year will be 1,475,000 acres smaller than last year.

Metal particles that get into automobile oil are attracted and prevented from injuring the motor by a recently invented magnetic drain plug.

The government is planning to develop the chicken industry so that in ten years Japan will be an egg exporting instead of importing nation.

A foot operated throttle has been invented by a North Carolina man to enable an aviator to completely control an airplane without using his hands.

Costa Rica may join the list of nations enjoying hydroelectric power as German interests are planning to harness waterfalls a few miles from Cartago.

An American Museum of Natural History scientist has demonstrated that butterflies and moths see colours of flowers and insects invisible to human eyes.

Equipped with a 500 horsepower engine and intended to carry five persons at a speed of 160 miles an hour, the world's largest autogiro is being built in England.

Power efficiency of 92.8 per cent. of the maximum available with gasoline has been obtained in experiments with compressed illuminating gas as a fuel for automobiles.

German manufacturers have perfected a wall and insulating board made chiefly of waste pine and spruce wood that has a highly polished surface but remains porous inside.

PARTIES LESS LAVISH IN HOLLYWOOD

Low Entertainment Mark Passed.

£20,000 MAY BE SPENT THIS YEAR

Hollywood. The old Hollywood spirit seems to be coming back. The film colony is "throwing parties" again.

In the good old days, Mr. Cecil B. de Mille, the well-known producer, used to give parties at his Paradise Ranch at which guests drew numbers for "favour." The "favour" were sometimes platinum wrist watches, furs, fine perfumes and even diamond rings.

Thus, Director's parties usually were confined to a small group, or to his fellow-workers. Other film magnates occasionally duplicated them or gave them on a larger scale of dollars.

Such affairs may not be seen again, although the tradition of lavishness, in the instance of Marion Davies, and one or two others, has been carried up to recent days. The nearest approach to the costly favours now is bridge prizes, such as a £50 hand bag.

The low mark in entertainment was reached during the 50 per cent salary cut a month ago, but with things looking up, those who ought to say that Hollywood may spend £20,000 this year for parties. In the good old days the figure was near £50,000.

One hundred pounds used to be considered a fair private party figure, although many reached double that sum and some £400 and £500. But there were all day or week-end affairs and counted the "overhead" of servants, spoiled rugs, damaged pianos, broken glassware and crockery.

Little dinners in the old days would easily run to £20 or so, but the figure can be halved now. A few have even had the temerity to give "stuffed" lunch parties (where everyone pays for himself).

But studios are beginning to entertain again and private parties are becoming brighter and more numerous.—Reuter.

News In Brief.

The name of Mr. Edward Charles Stocker has been added to the list of Authorized Architects of the Colony.

Mr. Merrit N. Coates has been recognized, provisionally and pending the issue of His Majesty's Executive Vice-Consul for the United States of America in Hong Kong.

The Rev. N. V. Halward will speak at next Tuesday's meeting of the Rotary Club on the subject of "Street Sleepers."

Mr. Dennis H. Hazell, Far Eastern Director of Messrs. William Sykes, left Hong Kong yesterday by the Ranchi on a business trip of, probably, three months' duration, to Malaya, Siam, Java and Sumatra.

Mr. William James Lockhart-Smith has been appointed to act as Deputy Official Receiver in Bankruptcy, in addition to his other duties, with effect from August 25, 1933, until further notice.

A Chinese letter-writer, charged with obstruction in Pukulam Road with his desk on the footpath, was cautioned at the Central Police Station yesterday and told to find another place for it.

SEVEN SISTERS FESTIVAL.

Exhibition Now Opens At Sincere's.

HISTORY OF THE SILK INDUSTRY.

Among the many interesting exhibits shown during the "Maidens' Festival Exhibition," now in progress in the Roof Garden of the Sincere Company, Ltd., is a collection of silkworms and their product, showing the elementary stages of the silk industry.

The silkworm is shown emerging from its chrysalis and through its various changes until its life work is finished, it becomes a moth, leaving behind eggs which will eventually become silkworms.

The collection is of interest to everyone, more especially those who have not been acquainted hitherto with the silkworm's life-history.

The various stages of manufacture of the silk itself are also depicted and the process which it has to undergo before actual weaving can take place.

The cocoons woven by the various species of worms are shown and specimens of the raw silk, which is at first roughly plucked and later woven into threads before the actual skeins are prepared.

Origin of the Silk Industry.

The silk industry in China was started over 5,000 years ago, when the Empress Lui Cho discovered that silk cloth could be woven from the products of the worms that fed on mulberry trees.

From that date both mulberry trees and silkworms have been largely cultivated in China, and Chinese silk is perhaps among the finest that can be found in any part of the world.

The Kwangtung Government are making efforts worthily to celebrate this festival, which is also the anniversary of the Empress Lui Cho, to commemorate the discovery of the product which has established one of the most romantic and important industries in the history of the world.

A comprehensive exhibition of agricultural development is being staged by the Kwangtung Provincial Bureau of Sericulture at the Y.M.C.A. building, Canton, the idea being to effect a reform in the traditional celebration of the "Seven Sisters" Festival and at the same time stimulate public interest in the silk industry.

The exhibition in Sincere's Roof Garden will continue until August 30. In addition to the usual pageantry of the Seven Sisters fairy-tale depicted in paper and bamboo, are some very interesting exhibits from the Provincial Bureau of Sericulture, Canton.

JAPANESE CRUISER COMING HERE.

Isudzu Arriving On Tuesday.

U.S. WARSHIP DUE.

The U. S. S. Sacramento is expected to arrive from the North on Monday afternoon.

The Japanese Light Cruiser Isudzu of 5,170 tons (total displacement), is expected in the Colony on Tuesday from the Hoko Group (Pescadores Islands) off the south-west coast of Formosa.

Carrying a complement of just over 400, the Isudzu is 535 feet long, 46% feet wide and has a draught of 16 feet 10% inches.

Her main armament consists of seven 5.5-inch guns, three 3-inch, 13-pounders (Anti-Aircraft); two machine guns and eight 21-inch torpedo tubes above water level.

She also carries a small seaplane.

She was completed in 1921 and designed for a speed of 33 knots.

LIQUOR DUTY EVASION.

Small Boy As Shield.

A Chinese named Ngai Kai was charged at the Central Magistracy yesterday with attempting to evade payment of duty on liquor.

Describing the act as a very mean one, Detective Sergeant Davies, who prosecuted, said that the man induced a small boy to carry the subject of the charge, nine bottles of "suitable liquor," while he himself walked behind.

Accused was fined $25, in default one month's hard labour.

BRITAIN'S "MODEL" SQUIRE

Mr. Ambrose Goreham Dies In Sussex.

VILLAGE LEFT TO BRIGHTON

London. The day of splendid Squiredom in England has not yet passed.

There has just died Mr. Ambrose Gorham Squire of Telcombe, in Sussex. He was 81 and known as England's "model" squire. Well, he earned the title, too.

Telcombe is an unspoilt Sussex village which can only be reached by travelling over the rough downs. That it is still unspoilt was solely due to the Squire.

Passionately he kept the old English outdoor atmosphere intact at Telcombe albeit not forgetting to give his people modern indoor comforts.

The whole village depended on their Squire. They used oil lamps and candles; he gave them electricity in their cottages. He restored the old parish church. He did many other noble things.

Squire Gorham was a great racing man. His Shannon Lass won the Grand National in 1902. He was keen on flat racing as well as steeplechasing, and he also farmed on an extensive scale.

When the Squire was buried some of his old servants and villagers wept for perhaps they saw in his passing the passing of something.

When these old men die too, the Squire will still be remembered. He has lost a perpetual memorial in his model squire-dom.

Under his will the entire village of Telcombe is bequeathed to Brighton with the wish that it will still remain unspoilt and redolent of old England.

It is understood that the living of the ancient parish church has also been left to the Brighton Corporation.—Reuter.

"GARBAGE KING" OF PORTUGAL

Millions Made From Lisbon's Refuse.

CONVERTED TO FERTILISER

Lisbon.

A few years ago Manuel Martins was a labourer in his native village of Cacilhas on the banks of the Tagus River opposite Lisbon.

To-day he is Senhor Martins, one of the richest men in Portugal. He lives in a castle with a high tower from which he can see his fleet of barges crossing the river laden with the source of his wealth—garbage!

When Manuel was a labourer he was laughed at when he said he would be a millionaire before he was 30 years of age. They look at him in wonder now.

Manuel's chance came when the Lisbon Corporation called for tenders for the disposal of the city refuse.

Martins got the contract. He borrowed money and hired barges to take the rubbish across the river to Cacilhas. There he converted the refuse into fertiliser.

He bought cheap plots of land and produced crops of fruit and vegetables that brought big prices on the Lisbon market.

Instead of returning empty, the barges re-crossed the river laden with his produce. Other farmers bought his fertiliser and to-day his factory is turning out tons of this converted garbage every week.

He also carries a small seaplane.

He was completed in 1921 and designed for a speed of 33 knots.

Philadelphia.

Little Gene Macom is only two, but she has managed to bring traffic to a dead stop in one of the busiest streets of Philadelphia.

For there she was, five storeys up, walking along the edge of a roof. A horrified crowd gathered but no one dared to cry out for fear of exciting the child.

But Gene just waved her hand to the people below.

Finally, a photographer climbed to the roof and pulled her to safety.

"I was just looking to see where Santa comes down the chimney," explained Gene.

Her mother explained that she was born on Christmas Day and that Santa Claus was her favorite character.—Reuter.

COLONY'S SOUND FINANCES

May Credit Balance Of $630,000.

INCREASES IN REVENUE.

The Financial Statement issued by the Government for the month of May shows an excess of revenue over expenditure of $630,680.37, revenue for the month being $2,638,982.12 and expenditure $2,007,751.75.

The excess of assets over liabilities on April 30 was $15,493,095.48, while at May 31 it stood at $16,123,725.85, the City Hall accounting for $1,250,000 of this sum.

The Comparative Statement of Revenue and Expenditure for the period May 1 to S.I. inclusive shows an all-round increase of revenue over that of the corresponding period of last year, the most striking being that of Duties, which are more than double, rising from $250,918.95 to $539,595.49.

Other increases are: Post Office $2,421.08, Court Fees etc. $11,615.82, Canton-Kowloon Railways $30,298.76, Government Rents $1,462.90, and Miscellaneous $5,173.51.

Other other hand Port and Harbour Dues fell by $4,399.09 and Licences and Internal Revenue, not otherwise specified, by $820,428.95.

Land Sales and Premia on New Leases treated separately from general revenue rose from $126,697.87 to $1,421,208.92.

POLICE COURT SCENE.

Forgiving Wife Pleads For Husband.

THIEF WHO SPENT MONEY ON ANOTHER WOMAN.

At the Central Magistracy yesterday of Chinese woman whose husband, Wo Ping, had been sentenced to six months' hard labour for stealing $680 worth of jewellery and $238 in cash from his father at 67 Lockhart Road, knelt before Mr. Schofield and pleaded that her husband be pardoned and bound over by the Court. In this the father acquiesced.

Detective Sergeant Nollath said that he could not understand the father's present attitude, seeing that he had previously insisted on the prosecution of his son. The son had a very bad record, which included four previous convictions, and should, he thought, be incarcerated for some time.

THE ARMED CITY OF WARSAW

POLAND'S CONFIDENCE IN HER STRENGTH

WILL HOLD HER NEWLY-WON LIBERTY

(By Norman Hillson.)

THE first impression the stranger receives on arrival in the crazy-wooden main station of Warsaw is that he is come to a city inhabited entirely by soldiery and officials in uniform.

Warsaw is a military city. It is the headquarters of a vast army and the nursing ground of an intense, military, even militaristic, spirit. It is the centre of an enormous country, inhabited by 33,000,000 people, and extending over an area almost the size of France, which in reality is a great military camp.

Soldiery in drab green-grey uniforms seem to overwhelm the civilian population on the pavements. They are of all sorts and conditions of men. Some are spruce and mindful of their smartness; others are crude peasants, uncertain of their step in a civilised town and careless in their appearance. Intermingled with them are cavalrymen trailing fierce-looking swords and wearing huge black field-boots armed at the heel with terrible spurs.

Armed Preparedness.

In the cafes and restaurants, of which there are many, you see officers disporting themselves with the gallantry and assurance found in talking pictures of pre-war Vienna. No Italian artillery officer ever fanned himself in the sun of the Piazza San Marco on a Sunday morning with more self-satisfaction than the modern Polish officer assumes when he takes his place in a crowded Warsaw cafe-restaurant and invites the blonde beauties around him to admire his grace, the fit of his uniform, and the polished scabbard of his sword.

It is impossible to escape from this atmosphere of armed preparedness. If you step outside the main hotel and cross the road you find the headquarters of the army. When the guard is changed—and it is changed at frequent intervals—there is a braying of trumpets in the noisiest of fanfares, and the display of troops, in their green uniforms, exceeds anything that graces the courtyard of Buckingham Palace. The ceremony is not so picturesque; but to a strange eye it seems more real.

I have emphasised the military aspect of Warsaw because it is the most important, the most abiding aspect. Moreover, the leading citizens of Warsaw, whether official or mercantile, make no attempt to conceal their ideas in regard to the military and political situation.

Strong To Be Secure.
They take pride in their military strength. If you question them even in the most casual fashion they will tell you that Poland has the finest cavalry in Europe, and that if Germany attempted an attack on the so-called Polish Corridor they would cross the German frontier and be walking down the Unter den Linden in three weeks.

These statements are not mere exuberances of hot-heads. They are the definite opinions of wise men, grown old in suffering, war, and adversity. The success or failure of the Disarmament Conference at Geneva really amounts to nothing so far as the inhabitants of Warsaw are concerned. They demand their security and they realise that the best security to be rather stronger than your neighbour.

During my stay in Warsaw I was accompanied by a very distinguished Polish official, a man who had fought in the Russian army. His persistent remark was: "Poland will never agree to any revision of the Treaty so far as it concerns the boundaries of the newly created Poland."

My same informant did not conceal the anxiety felt in responsible circles in Poland at the advance to strength of the Hitler party in Germany. Warsaw (and Warsaw speaks for Poland) regards the Hitler movement as militaristic. Before the advent of the Nazis they had little fear of Germany. Their anxieties were centred on Russia. But now the situation is different. Germany, rearmed, may become stronger than Poland.

One is impressed from the outset by the pride of the Polish people. They have their independence. They will risk annihilation to defend it. You hear less talk of the world crisis in Warsaw than in any capital in Europe. The inhabitants have more important things to ponder over—their freedom, their nationality, the business of proving to the world that they are as much a great Power as Italy or France, by reason of population, area, military strength, and economic possibilities.

Long Wait For Liberty.
Long wait for liberty. You are forced to agree with them. Too long has Poland been regarded as one of the many small States created by the Peace Treaties. She is nothing of the kind. She is vast. Her industrial and agricultural resources are immense. But Europe still goes on thinking of Poland in almost the same terms as she used to think of the Little Entente.

How determined the Poles are to assert their nationalism was demonstrated not long after the war by the destruction with dynamite of the vast Russian Cathedral of St. Basil. This building was erected by the Tsars in the middle of an historic open space in Warsaw. The Russian Byzantine architecture, with its onion-shaped cupolas and great belfry, completely dominated the city.

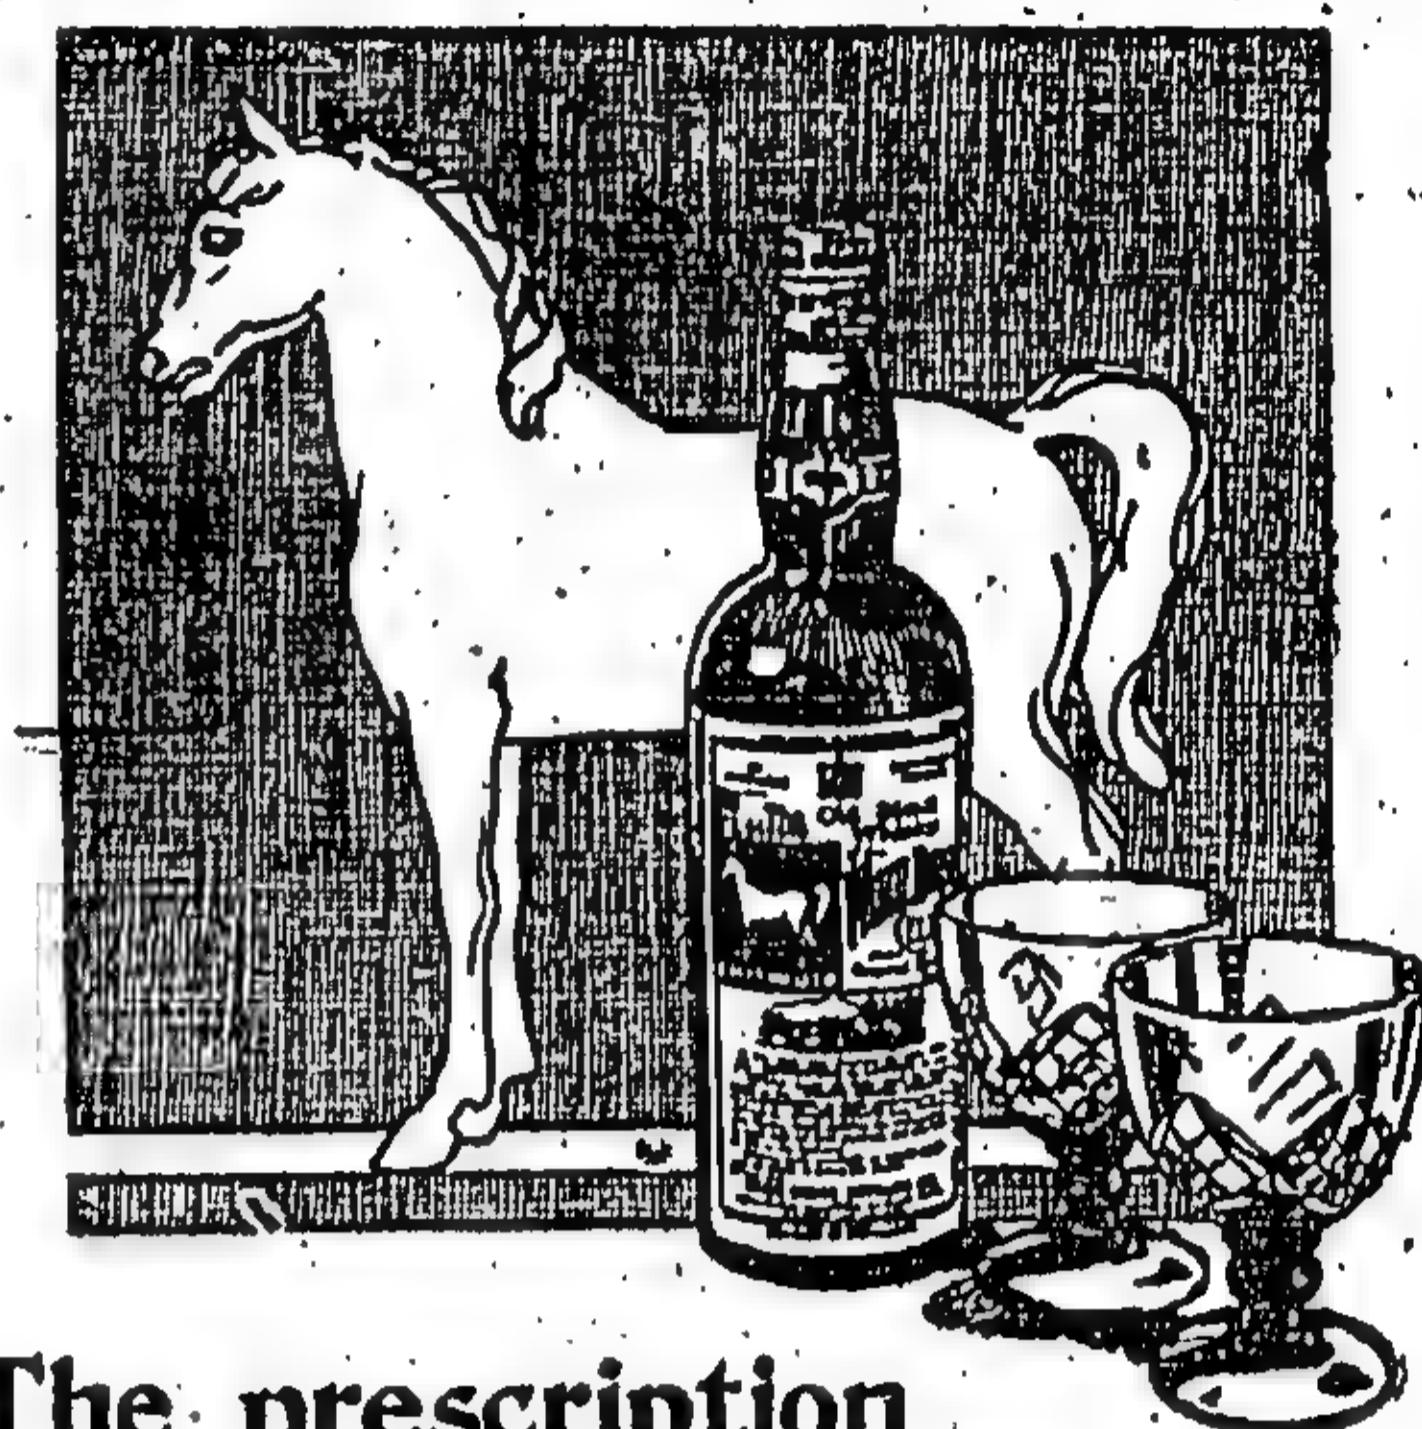

The Poles of Warsaw were impotent, but they "bided their time." When liberation came they blew the cathedral to pieces and cleared the site. On the day the last pebble was put in place on the now vacant space the whole garrison was paraded and knelt in celebration of a field Mass. For one hundred and fifty years they have awaited liberty.

NINE BOOTBLOCKS IN COURT

Cautioned And Discharged.

MAGISTRATE'S SYMPATHETIC INTEREST

Nine little Chinese boot-blocks were discharged with a caution by Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Central Police Court yesterday for causing an obstruction in the central city district.

"But mind you it is a caution, and if you are caught again you will get caned," he said.

In answer to the Magistrate some of the boys said that they bought their apparatus while others said that it was supplied to them. Two said that they had been given to them by the Boot Polish firms.

Addressing the boys the Magistrate said: "I do not want to deprive you of an honest living, but I don't want you to become a nuisance. You are not to congregate in a bunch at one point and must scatter. Mind you, if you do it again you will be caned."

Mr. Wynne-Jones suggested that the police could help by selecting positions and allocating them to the children, or giving them fixed positions so that they could go there every day. It was an honest form of living, he said, and very useful, and probably stopped the boys from becoming pick-pockets.

In conclusion the magistrates said that he would speak to the Inspector General of Police personally regarding the allocation of fixed positions.

SPURIOUS COINS IN CHANGE.

Bus Conductor Gaoled.

SEVERAL COUNTERFEITS IN HIS POSSESSION.

Remarking that he took a serious view of the case, Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy yesterday sentenced Wong Sang, a China Motor Bus Co.'s conductor to three months' hard labour for uttering a counterfeit ten-cent piece at Queen's Road West, and a further four months' hard labour for possession of nine counterfeit coins.

The accused pleaded guilty.

The Magistrate, addressing the Superintendent of the Bus Company said that the Company's shroff must in future destroy all spurious coins taken or send them to the Government Treasury, not put them back into circulation.

The Armed City Of Warsaw.

Warsaw is a gay city. It is gay because it has made up its mind. Paris and Berlin, both before and after the war, organised gaity because it was a fruitful source of revenue from the patronage of foreigners. The gaity of Warsaw is organised with no such object. It is there because the people of Warsaw like to laugh and relax in the consciousness of their strength.

Life And Laughter.

You find very few foreigners in Warsaw. The cultured classes speak French because that is a racial educational tradition. English only emerges from the mouths of hotel concierges, who, as throughout Europe, are mostly Swiss. In the great cafés—some of them seem to be almost the size of the Albert Hall—there is one long incessant buzz of chatter and laughter from lunch-time until the small hours.

In these cafés, restaurants, and hotels, the Warsawians meet to pass their leisure hours. Their lives are highly organised. They work for their country a set period of each day, and when work is over they abandon themselves with equal intensity and imagination to pleasure.

The amount of tea consumed is colossal. It is weak and, to an Englishman's taste, rather poor; but the Poles get more fun from lorry, loaded with fish, was round drinking tea than the Londoner from consuming champagne. To a Westerner, bowed down by world crises and terrific taxation, to wander into a Warsaw café and enjoy—and perhaps envy—the laughter is a tonic.

GYMKHANA.

Gully in snarling his prey and was placed fourth. Geese, hens, cockrels, ducks and guinea pigs comprised the "farm."

There were many spills during the afternoon. W. E. Hunt's mount in the Aunt Sally race bolted and brought down a section of one of the tents. L. G. Robertson was thrown at the start of the over-crowded whistling race, but he managed to hold his mount. Fortunately neither rider was hurt.

Crawford's Ordeal.

J. D. H. Crawford was given a hectic time by his mount in the Open Tent Pegging. The pony attempted to throw his rider by a series of buck-jumping feats which on one occasion took him right into the middle of a tent. Crawford, however, rode him well, but was forced to stand down in the contest after one success in two attempts.

Miss Pamela Scott Harston,
well-known lady rider at Macao and Fanling, secured a well deserved win in the Ladies' Rotten Row which was judged on the most stylish pony and rider. Little Miss May Kinchin won the Juvenile prize. Had she been bigger she might well have challenged Miss Scott Harston.

No Sub-Section easily won the Alarm Race which provided stops in all four guns and one or two spills before it eventually concluded. W. T. Stanton, the well-known jockey and owner, carried off the Ball and Bucket race, and Mrs.
C. C. Barnaby, aided by A. Wall, was attired so attractively in grey flannel trousers, a shirt, collar and tie, a brown coat and soft hat to match, horn-rimmed glasses and a pipe that she was awarded the Marlene Dietrich event.

An Annual Event.

At the conclusion of the 12 events, which took 4½ hours to complete, Lady Peel distributed the many handsome prizes and was given a silver trinket box by the Troop as a memento of the occasion.
Miss Kathleen Le Feuvre then presented Lady Peel with a bouquet of flowers.

In asking Lady Peel to present
the prizes Capt. Alec Potts said that this was the first gymkhana the
Troop had held since 1926, but it had now been decided to hold it as an annual event.

Among the many distinguished guests present were His Excellency,
Sir William Peel, K.C.M.G.,
K.B.E., and Lady Peel. His Excellency
Major-General O. C. Borrett,
C.B., C.M.G., C.B.E., D.S.O. and
Mrs. Borrett, and Colonel L. G.
Bird, D.S.O., O.B.E., Commandant of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps.

In asking Lady Peel to present
the prizes Capt. Alec Potts said that this was the first gymkhana the
Troop had held since 1926, but it had now been decided to hold it as an annual event.

Y.M.C.A. WIN RELAY FROM C.B.C.

In the Men's 100 Yards Back
Stroke, Leung Shui-man (C.B.C.)
and Kwok Chun-hung (S.C.A.A.) fought out a thrilling duel, the former taking the lead in the last lap to win by two-fifths of a second. F. J. Anslow (Y.M.C.A.) was almost a length behind at the finish.

The Men's Relay.

The last event on the programme, the Men's 220 Yards Open Relay proved to be the most popular event on the programme.

The Y.M.C.A. "A" who were forced to make a change in their team, substituting R. B. Wood for R. Goldman, swam magnificently to snatch a dramatic victory from the Chinese Bathing Club, who beat South China by a yard.

Although the Y.M.C.A. held a slight advantage all the way, the excitement rose to a terrific pitch when Leung Shui-man (C.B.C.) spurred in the middle of the last lap to come level with A. G. Donn, skipper of the victorious team.

Donn, however, put every ounce of strength into his final strokes and won by a touch, and Leung Shui-man beat Leung Wal-sang (S.C.A.A.) by a yard.

Civil Servants Handicapped.

In the second heat the Chinese Civil Servants Swimming Club were unfortunate to lose the services of Lai Im-cheuk, who was exhausted after his Back Stroke win. They lost the second heat in the last five yards of the final lap, when Ng Chi-man spurred to give Chung Sing an unexpected entry into the final. The Y.M.C.A. "B" were hopelessly outclassed.

The Finale of the Championships

THE TIGER OF TIBET

For close-quarter work he had a .45 Colt revolver with a 7½-inch barrel, an old friend, and his .45 Colt automatic pistol, which he had purchased on mobilisation as being more suitable for modern war, and which had already served him well at Port Said.

Five hundred rounds for the rifle and two hundred for revolver and pistol was an ample supply of ammunition.

Geoffrey filled Sher Khan with joy by getting another .45 Colt automatic and a little .250 high-power rifle, their proper complements of am-Savage rifle for his special use, with munition. The Pathan had no own knife.

Twenty-four hours after he had parted from Phyllis, Geoffrey left Bombay for Delhi. He had reserved a coupe compartment for himself, while Sher Khan travelled in the servants' compartment on the same coach. Just before the train started the Pathan came to Geoffrey and warned him against taking any food on the train in the restaurant-car.

"Eat nothing but what I have cooked, sahib. It will be safer. Who knows how they will strike next?"

Well as he knew the East, Geoffrey thought this precaution rather unnecessary, but decided to take it if only to humour the Pathan.

The next morning the train stopped early at a wayside station, and Geoffrey was awakened by Sher Khan calling to one of the khutmutgars (waiters) of the restaurant-car, bidding him bring a cup of tea for the Colonel Sahib. Geoffrey was struck by the Pathan's act after his warning of the previous night, and was about to ask a question when Sher Khan motioned silence, and again called to the khutmutgar telling him to hurry as the Colonel Sahib wanted his tea before the train started. At last the man arrived and handed the cup in, but Sher Khan seemed occupied with some kit under the seat and told him to put it down on the table. No sooner had the man entered and deposited the cup than Sher Khan flung his arms round him, holding him in a grip of iron, and called to Geoffrey to shut the door.

The engine whistled and the train glided out of the station while Sher Khan still held his trembling prisoner. "What are you doing, Sher Khan?"

"Ah, sahib, I have him. We will make him drink the tea himself. I saw him taking to a suspicious looking devil at Bombay station. I told him to fetch the tea on purpose. Surely he will not mind drinking the tea he brought for the Colonel Sahib?"

"STYLE," as applied to the Packard, has always meant something more.

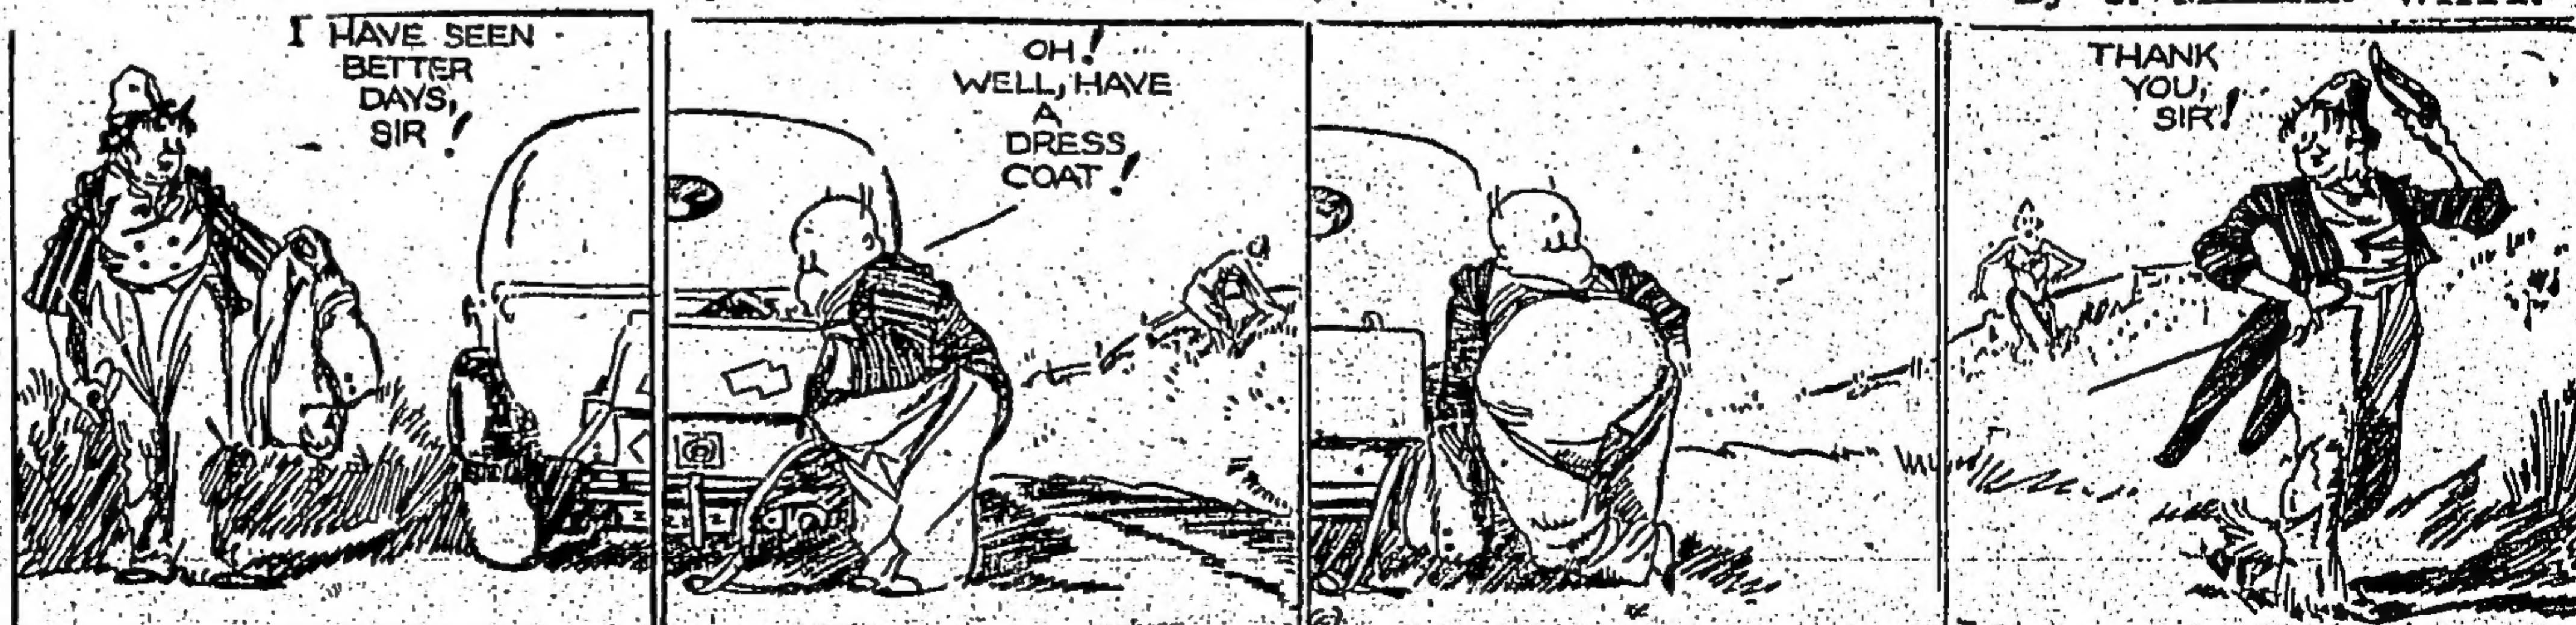

Associated with it, logically and distinctively, is the other important word, "enduring"—a Packard characteristic for a third of a century.

So gradually and correctly has Packard style evolved—like the slow unfolding of a beautiful flower—it has never been at the mercy of that capricious mood which too often alienates to-morrow's style from that of to-day.

MOTORING NOTES.

MOTOR ROAD OVER PYRENEES

Opening Up Fresh Beauty In Spain's Mountains

A long new route right across the Pyrenees is being planned by the National Tourist Association of Spain.

Up to the present, many views on the Spanish side of the Pyrenees, with their vast panoramas of mountains and valleys rich with vegetation, have remained hidden because of the lack of motor roads.

But now, by the projected linking up of the already existing roads with new ones, tourists from Northern Europe will be enabled to venture further than just the French side of the mountains.

It is proposed to spend £15,000 on this new route and plans are also being made to erect hotels, restaurants and hotels on delightful spots in the hills so as to encourage visitors.—Reuters.

"LUCKY DEVILS"

We went behind the scenes of Hollywood last night to see its unsung heroes, the stunt-men who risk their lives so that we may have thrills served with our films. And the $60-a-day dare-devils have their inning at the Central Theatre, taking our breath away in every foot of "Lucky Devils."

"Thrill" is a by-word to Hollywood stunt men. Courageously, they brave every conceivable hazard risking life and limb to crash automobiles into plate glass; fight on foot-wide prison walls; swing across buildings; fight on burning roofs; and tumble fifty feet to earth through a skylight. Here is the dramatic lowdown on how Hollywood performs difficult stunts which precipitate the question "Do they really do it?"

Bill Boyd employs his virile physique and personality with realism in a sincere, convincing portrayal. As Skipper, head stunt man, he saves an "extra" girl from suicide. Upsetting his theory that stuntman and romance do not mix, he marries her. He acquires a fear of death and loses his nerve. He works as a day labourer, and eventually becomes despondent when his wife nittles-pates a baby; he is penniless.

A stunting job is available. He undertakes the execution of a death ride in a canoe across tumultuous rapids in a tense dramatic climax which kept an audience glued to the edge of the seats.

Dorothy Wilson, recently soaring to prominence as the RKO-Radio stenographer featured in "The Age of Consent," gives an able dramatic portrayal as Skipper's wife. Wm. Gargan, stage star whose recent role in "The Animal Kingdom" added to his laurels, is well cast as a member of the "Lucky Devils" club. Roscoe Ates is conventionally hilarious with his stuttering humor; William Bakewell, Creighton Chaney, Bruce Cabot, Julie Haydon, and Phyllis Fraser complete an adequate featured cast. Ralph Ince directed "Lucky Devils."

JAPANESE JUBILANT IN N. CHINA

Boycott Movement To Be Suppressed.

A SHANGHAI REPORT.

Shanghai, Yesterday.
Japanese merchants in Shanghai and other cities in north China are celebrating to-day, as it is reported, that General Huang Fu, Chairman of the Peking Political Readjustment Committee, has promised the Japanese to suppress the boycott movement in China.

Japanese nationals doing business in this country are pleased that hereafter their trade prospects will be improved. Japanese merchants will hold a meeting on August 28 at Peking and will discuss ways and means to improve their imports in China.

Japanese from Shanghai, Tientsin, Tsingtao, Hankow, and Tsinan will attend this important meeting.—Central Press.

WHEAT AGREEMENT SIGNED.

Lower Tariffs Desired.

London, Yesterday.
The Wheat Agreement between 29 countries, was signed at Canada House, London, at 10.30 p.m. yesterday.

It incorporates a statement by the exporting countries on the lines of the draft agreement issued by the exporting countries of Monday last stating that:

"Importing and exporting countries being desirous of establishing a balance between consumption and production are agreed."

Firstly, to adopt every possible measure to increase consumption;

Secondly, to lower Customs tariffs when price levels are sufficiently steady to permit."

WHEAT PRICES RISE AFTER AGREEMENT.

Washington, Yesterday.
A reduction of 15 per cent. in the United States wheat acreage has been tentatively decided in consequence of the London Agreement. A formal announcement will be made to-day by Mr. Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, who had previously threatened that America would dump her surplus wheat if the London Conference failed.—Reuter.

U.S. ATTITUDE TO FOREIGN TRADE

Government Services Discontinued.

FIRMS LOSE ASSISTANCE OWING TO ECONOMY

Washington, Yesterday.

An important change in policy is involved in the joint announcement by the United States Commerce and State Departments. For reasons of economy they are discontinuing assistance to individual firms conducting business abroad.

The classes of commercial service to be discontinued are special market surveys for individual firms and negotiations or transactions on behalf of such firms.

For example, the services to be discontinued include the actual sale of merchandise, the conclusion of the agency agreement or the settlement of a trade dispute in which public interest is not involved, and correspondence or personal interviews on behalf of a firm negotiating with a foreign agent or buyer.

MR. T. V. SOONG IN JAPAN

Important Discussions At Tokyo?

INSTRUCTIONS FROM NANKING.

Yokohama, Yesterday.

Mr. T. V. Soong, Chinese Minister of Finance, arrived here last night aboard the President Jefferson from Seattle. He proceeded immediately to Tokyo by train.

Count Yasuoya Uchida, the Japanese Foreign Minister, was away taking part in the launching ceremony of a new cruiser, and Mr. Soong was received at the foreign office by the Vice-Minister.

It is stated that Mr. Soong has instructions from Marshal Chiang Kai-shek to take up formal negotiations with the Japanese Government on numerous matters following the recent complete understanding between Marshal Chiang and the Japanese Government.—Central Press.

An earlier report that Mr. Soong had landed in Tokyo, was denied on Thursday, by Reuter, who stated that the Chinese Legation in Tokyo had informed the Japanese Foreign Office that Mr. Soong would not land.

CITIZENSHIP ABROGATED AND PROPERTY CONFISCATED

Berlin, Yesterday.

In accordance with a recent Decree, the Minister of the Interior has annulled the German Citizenship and confiscated the property of a number of Germans now abroad who "have injured German interests by behaviour conflicting with their duty and loyalty to the nation and the Reich."

Those affected include George Bornhard, ex-Editor of the Vossische Zeitung, Dr. Rudolf Bratschold, Socialist leader in the Reichstag, Lion Feuchtwanger, the famous author, Dr. Alfred Kerr, ex-Editor of the Berliner Tagblatt, Philip Scheidemann, the Socialist ex-Chancellor, and Friedrich Stampfer, Editor of Vorwärts.—Reuter.

NO INFLATION OF CURRENCY IN AMERICA.

It is understood that the President and Mr. Woodin discussed the possibility of issuing an executive order for forcing the hoarded gold, estimated at $600,000,000 in notes and coin, into the Treasury. It is believed that the President will soon issue the order.

A formal statement has disclosed that the Federal Reserve, during the past week, purchased Federal Bonds to the value of $35,000,000. This has quickened credit expansion.

During the past few weeks, the Federal Reserve have been purchasing $10,000,000 weekly, and it is therefore believed that the increase is designed to appease the inflationist group, although its principal effect is on credit instead of currency.

Prominent bankers state that credit is now plentiful, but that good buyers are scarce.—United Press, per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

Bethlehem's plants, being located in the East, did not share proportionately in this initial increase. Since the beginning of June, however, the steel industry has been showing to better advantage in each week.

The outlook for the third quarter is considered satisfactory, particularly because some of the construction and naval work proposed by the Government should come to Bethlehem. Railroad business also may be a factor in the current period.—Messrs. Asia Lands Ltd., per Reuter.

U.S. COMMENCE WARSHIP BUILDING PROGRAMME

Two Aircraft Carriers, And Two Light Cruisers

Washington, Yesterday.
An important step in America's new "Prosperity" warship-building programme was taken yesterday when Mr. Swanson Secretary to the Navy signed two contracts aggregating over $1,250,000 for the construction of two aircraft carriers and two light cruisers.—Reuter.
